Middlesex Coalition of Municipalities Meeting

Towns raise concerns about gas pipeline

By JON BISHOP
Town Crier Correspondent
Jon@YourTownCrier.com

GROTON—Members of the Middlesex Coalition of Municipalities, a group of administrators, elected officials, and personnel from area towns potentially affected by the proposed Kinder Morgan gas pipeline, stressed that even though they and their residents are concerned with the proposal, they didn't want to focus purely on opposition. Instead, they wanted to offer alternatives. Wilmington and Tewksbury each sent representatives to attend the meeting.

Dennis Eklof, a Groton resident and an appointed member of the coalition, as well as the owner of Eklof and Associates, an energy consulting company, said that the group should "find a credible organization that will look at the alternatives in sufficient detail."

"Kinder Morgan is not [going to look at the alternatives]," he said. "It's not in their interest." Having a feasible alternative is paramount, he said.

Scott Wilson, Vice Chairman of the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen, agreed.

"I think that, when we add the word opposition, it changes the conversation," he said.

New rules for Silver Lake

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - The cleanliness and safety of Silver Lake has been a long-standing issue with town residents. In response to local concerns the Board of Selectmen voted unanimously at the May 12, 2014 meeting to adopt new rules to help protect the public beach, considered one of Wilmington's finest natural resources.

Silver Lake Beach will now be open daily through Sunday, August 17, 2014.

Qualified lifeguards are onsite from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily through Sunday, August 17, 2014.

Wilmington residents can use Silver Lake free of charge with proof of residency: driver's license with a Wilmington address, student school picture ID, or current tax bill with picture ID. Those who do not have proof of residency will be charged the non-resident fee.

For non-Wilmington residents the day rate has increased from $5.00 to

First woman fire Lt.

4 firefighters receive promotions

By JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor
Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON Fire Department announced four promotions late Tuesday, including the first woman lieutenant for the department.

Brooke Green, hired in 2010, is an Iraq War Army veteran. She will be promoted to Operations/Training Lieutenant starting on Wednesday, July 9, 2014.

Firefighter William Cavanaugh will be promoted to Fire Prevention Lt. starting Monday, July 7. Firefighter Erik Nansel will be promoted to Shift Lt. starting Tuesday, July 8. Firefighter Frederick Ryan, a veteran of the Wilmington Fire Department with approximately fifteen years of experience, will be promoted to Shift Lt. starting July 10.

"These promotions will complete a major transition of the Command Staff of the Wilmington Fire Department which began in the beginning of June," said Deputy Fire Chief Gary Donovan.

The department consists of 40 members, 32 firefighters, six lieutenants (four shift lieutenants, one fire prevention lt., and one operations/training lt.), one Deputy Chief, and one Department Chief.

"With recent and upcoming retirements the Wilmington Fire Department is in the process of hiring new firefighters to the ranks. The W.F.D. is confident in the abilities of the newly promoted Lieutenants and is looking forward to moving toward the future with renewed enthusiasm," added Donovan.

Construction is humming along on the new Wilmington High School.

Wilmington High School Building Committee $9K raised for 9/11 Memorial

By MARK WADLAND
Special to the Town Crier
Mark@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Building Committee met at the Town Hall on Tuesday, June 24 to update the Wilmington School Committee on changes made to the project and updates on the 9/11 memorial.

Joanne Benton, recently retired superintendent of Wilmington Public Schools, said that Mark Marshall, who works for Dore and Whittier, designed two plaques for Wilmington High School, one with and one without the Board of Selectmen on the plaque. The Wilmington School Committee discussed making a few changes to the plaques.

The committee questioned whether or not the Massachusetts School Building Authority, or the MSBA, should be recognized equally as the residents of Wilmington on the plaque.

They also voted and decided that the plaque should read "Board of Selectmen" instead of "Wilmington Selectmen." However, none of these have been finalized yet.

9/11 Memorial

Benton said a granite 9/11 memorial will be placed in the courtyard in front of the school with an explanation of the significance of the memorial written on the front.

So far, organizers received $9,000 in donations, according to Benton. She believes that $20,000 will cover all of the costs associated with constructing the memorial.

Baseball field

The School Building Committee will be making several changes to the baseball field. The wood retaining wall in the outfield will be demolished and a vegetative retaining wall will be constructed instead. Fiber paneling will also be installed, causing the outfield to be pulled inward eight to ten feet, according to Jon Richardson, project architect for Dore and Whittier Architects.

Fencing will be constructed on the left side of the field, with a double gate to be erected so that maintenance equipment can access the field when needed, according to Richardson. The baseball field will also shift outward, creating a wider path from third base to home plate.

A second set of steps, as well as more handicapped seating, will be finished by the end of the week.

Richardson said the mechanical work in the science classrooms has already been completed, and the school will have permanent power in July.

The tennis courts will be demolished, and work on that will be finished this coming October.

Another issue with the new school is temperature and how to control it. Richardson said the school's temperature cannot be controlled as one entity but rather controlled by floor, not by unit.

The next meeting of the School Building Committee will be on Wed., August 20 at the Roman House at 5 p.m.

Target Construction is well underway in time for a projected opening in October 2014.

The new store will be located at 210 Ballardvale Street. The Wilmington store is one of 10 that Target plans to open in 2014.

Grocery component included in store

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Target on Ballardvale Street is well underway, as is a retail plaza adjacent to the site. Target plans an October opening and a sign on the front indicates that they are starting to hire staff.

The Wilmington store will be approximately 130,000 square feet, and in addition to the typical products and exclusive brands, will also offer a selection of fresh produce, fresh packaged meat and pre-packaged baked goods, as well as a Starbucks and a Target Pharmacy, "to further enhance guests' shopping experience," said a Target spokesperson.

The Wilmington location will employ approximately 150 team members. Target will host job fairs approximately two months prior to the new store opening or sometime in August. Candidates may also apply online at Target.com/careers or at in-store kiosks located in all Target stores approximately three months prior to the new store opening.

Wilmington Director of Planning and Development, Carole Hamilton, explained that planners designed the site to (eventually) have a similar shopping and dining experience to Wayside Commons in Burlington, particularly with this close-to-the-highway location. However, intersection upgrades with Rt. 125 may be needed in the future to accommodate increased traffic flows.

Raised on THE Fourth of July

A house stands the test of time

By LARZ F. NEILSON

Thursday, July 4 1776 was a fairly typical day in Wilmington, in the British colony of Massachusetts. Several people gathered and raised the frame of a house on Andover Street in North Wilmington that day. It wasn't until later that they learned what else happened that same day.

On the same day the frame was raised, representatives meeting in Philadelphia signed the Declaration of Independence.

If you had tried to select that date in advance, how would you have known what would happen in Philadelphia that day? You wouldn't. And thus is was coincidence, pure coincidence, that the house on Andover Street became the Fourth of July House.

Certainly there had been revolutionary activity in eastern Massachusetts, but there is no record of violence in Wilmington.

Fifteen months earlier, British Regulars had marched on Lexington and Concord, and men from Wilmington had joined in the fighting. Then had come the Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775.

Obviously, a house would not be built in a day. But in timber-frame construction, there is one day when neighbors came together to hoist and assemble the frame. It was a tradition that often included a community lunch.

The construction was started in a British colony. It was completed in the United States of America.

Adele Passmore compiled and edited the town's 250th Anniversary book in 1980. She wrote that the construction was probably carried out by Ebenezer Jones, who lived farther north on Andover Street.

The house sits back to a ridge that runs parallel to Andover Street. It faces the Brown's Crossing pumping station, and a large marsh known as Nod Pond.

A quarter mile to the south is the Harnden Tavern, estimated to have been built six years earlier.

Nearby, once a part of the property, is a cave known as

"Devil's Den." There is a tale that Capt. William Kidd in 1699 was seen driving an ox cart laden with treasure to that cave. He was accompanied by a slave. Then, later in the day, he returned south, without the slave.

The ghost of the slave supposedly guards the treasure and moves it if anyone approaches, searching for it.

As if that fanciful element isn't enough to discredit the entire story, one needs only to examine the timing of Capt. Kidd's story. He was only in Boston three days before being arrested. He did not have enough time to secure an ox cart and carry out the burial of any treasure.

Anyway, that would have been 77 years before the house was built.

For most of the 19th Century, it was the Benjamin Eames house. The Eames family had been here for more than a hundred years by the time he moved into the house.

As a young man, Eames was hired as a coachman by William Fletcher Weld, a wealthy Boston ship owner. Weld had a 14-year-old daughter, and you can guess what happened.

After the baby was born, Weld sent Benjamin Eames and the baby boy back to Wilmington. The Weld family supported the child financially, but would have nothing to do with him socially. He was raised as William Ames.

When he reached adulthood, the Weld family put up money for him to start a business in Chicago. He eventually sold that and returned to Wilmington, where he married Sarah Day. They built a home at Middlesex Avenue and Clark Street. He ran a "grocery store," where he sold liquor. They had at least three daughters, from whom are descended some of Wilmington's more prominent families.

Is there any truth to the Weld connection? One descendant searched the Boston records and found a page missing where the birth might have been recorded.

However, a Weld connection has been found in the Reading birth records. On Dec. 24, 1808, a girl was born to Joseph and Phebe Eames. They named her Harriet Weld Eames. Joseph was Benjamin Eames' brother.

Why would they use the name Weld? The name does not appear anywhere else in the Wilmington or Reading records.

Benjamin Eames married Hannah Burt on April 19, 1810. He died in 1824 at age 37.

In the front yard of the Fourth of July House there were two large elm trees. They were blown down in Hurricane Carol in Sept. 1953. At the time, the Kenneth Lyons family lived in the house. Lyons was a selectman in the early 1950s, and a competent craftsman. He built a picket fence that matched the curve of the rock wall along the roadside.

There was a pussy willow tree in the side yard that grew to record size. It was planted in the 1920s for Mrs. Grace Foster, whose son, Donald Foster was superintendent of the Water Department.

In 1969, engineers from Avco saw the tree, and came to measure it. This was done by triangulation, much more easily accomplished than by climbing to the top of the tree with a tape measure. Anyway, they pronounced it to be the largest pussy willow tree in the United States.

The tree blew down in a storm in November 1983. It brushed against the house, but caused no damage.

YOUR CREDIT REPORTS

When was the last time you checked your credit reports? Did you ever? Did you know that you can check your credit reports free once a year from the three big agencies—Equifax, Experian and TransUnion—directly online or from AnnualCreditReport.com?

Why do you check? To find out if there are charges against you, loans made in your name, charge accounts that you never opened or other disparities from your records. These unknown and unacknowledged debts can seriously affect your credit score and count against you when you need to get credit yourself.

The first time you check, it's wise to get reports from all three of the agencies. They don't share information so you'll want to spot and dispute any possible problems on all the reports. After that, wait a year until the reports are free again, then check one report every four months. Or contact the agencies to alert them to possible fraud using your name.

Senate: Towns should control liquor licenses

BY STAFF REPORTS AND AP

BOSTON — The Massachusetts Senate has approved a bill that would give cities and towns more control over liquor licenses.

In towns with new development centered around dining and entertainment, including Tewksbury and Wilmington, this move from the Senate could make a difference.

The proposal was included in an economic development bill passed by the chamber Tuesday.

The state currently caps the number of licenses a city or town can grant under a formula based partly on population. Any requests for liquor licenses above the cap must be brought before the Legislature.

Gov. Deval Patrick has pushed to lift the caps. Boston Mayor Martin Walsh and 16 other eastern Massachusetts mayors and town managers have also endorsed the proposal.

The House opted against including the liquor license proposal in its version of the bill.

That means a conference committee charged with crafting a compromise will have to decide whether to include the liquor license plan in the final bill.

Bruce receives degree from Holy Cross College

Paul Bruce, of Wilmington received a bachelor of arts degree from the College of the Holy Cross on May 23 at its 168th Commencement.

Approximately 675 students received degrees this year from Holy Cross, in exercises at which Jon Favreau '03, former director of speechwriting for President Barack Obama and co-founder of the communications firm Fenway Strategies, was the principal speaker.

The College of the Holy Cross (www.holycross.edu), located in Worcester, Massachusetts, is among the nation's leading liberal arts institutions. A highly selective, four-year, exclusively undergraduate college of 2,900 students, Holy Cross is renowned for offering a rigorous, personalized education in the Jesuit, Catholic tradition.

Since its founding in 1843, Holy Cross has made a positive impact in society by graduating students who distinguish themselves as thoughtful leaders in business, professional and civic life.

Briere honored for strong academics at Wheelock College

Hannah Briere, a Wilmington resident, was recently recognized for excellent academic performance this past semester at Wheelock College and placed on the Dean's List.

She joins Wheelock College's growing student body on the Dean's List, a universal acknowledgement within the academic arena as a symbol of high achievement.

A student is eligible when he or she earns a minimum semester grade-point average of 3.8 (on a 4.0 scale); successfully completes a minimum of twelve credit hours during the semester which are graded on a 'letter grade' basis; and does not carry any Incomplete grades ('I') or Failing grades ('F') for the semester at the time the Dean's List is determined.

As a private college with a public mission, Wheelock strives to be the premier college educating people to create a safe, caring, and just world for children and families for the past 126 years. Wheelock College provides opportunities for students to achieve academic success and to go on to inspire a world of good.

As a highly respected advocate for social policy, Wheelock also helps to shape and strengthen the social systems that positively impact children and families around the globe.

Commentary On Independence

Congratulations to the Wilmington Fourth of July Committee for planning a substantial celebration of our nation's independence. With the change of venue for both the carnival and the fireworks, and public hue and cry for the better part of a year, this committee persevered - working with town and community leaders - to offer those hometown events that mean the most to residents who have come to rely on the committee for a fantastic holiday. A hearty round of applause.

Going your own way, voting your conscience, especially as an elected representative, can be tough when not all parties agree. But, voting your conscience is essential - it's why voters elected you to the Tewksbury School Committee and it's your job. Congratulations to Krissy Polimeno and Lisa Puccia who voted against the adoption of the PARCC assessment in Tewksbury. They did their homework (and it showed) and voted for what they thought was right, even though the remaining members of the committee voted to jettison MCAS. Both of these women leaders have a strong track record of independent voices and are both confident, active members of the school community.

Likewise, congratulations to the Wilmington School Committee, and in particular MJ Byrnes, Legislative Representative, for fearless writing and holding the expectation that elected leaders will work to solve real problems in America - particularly asking Sen. Warren to address mental health as a means of reducing gun violence in schools. We've been saying it here for years - mental health - brain health - has been underfunded and undermined at the state and federal level for more than a generation.

Food for Thought

by Scott Mallowney

My wife and I have embarked on a dangerous journey together - we're radically changing our ketchup even - I never want to eat a fried french fry again. Surprisingly, I don't miss them (much).

Things I never thought I'd try are now staples on our grocery list. I'm not a soy milk fan. I could never get past the grayish hue and icky aftertaste, but almond milk is fantastic. Who knew you could even produce milk from almonds? I gave it a try and I was impressed. At 40 calories a serving, I love it even more - it even has calcium to help strengthen my aging bones.

Our grocery shopping routine has changed significantly. I've heard rumors that you can do all your weekly shopping from the outside edges of the supermarket without having to peruse every aisle (well almost). It takes longer to shop with a healthy lifestyle as your focus. It was faster and easier to mindlessly toss food into our cart without thinking of the consequences. However, once you start making health conscious decisions, you won't want to go back to old routines.

We pass by the bakery aisle without stopping and not feel like we're missing something. The produce aisle is now our favorite place to linger. There are always new things to try. Some recipes call for hard to find vegetables that have never been on our shopping list before. I'm hoping this new way to eat is not just a phase or an in-the-moment fad. It doesn't feel temporary, it feels like this is the way it should have been all our lives. At home, I hardly recognize my refrigerator shelves. When I open the door it's overflowing with leafy greens and low-fat alternatives.

The results our bodies have shown in a few short weeks have proven we can achieve the goals we want if we're willing to make some changes and endure some sacrifices. But is it really a sacrifice if you reap the benefits in the long run?

750 lbs of trash cleaned up

Dear Editor,
The Tewksbury Beautification Committee would like to thank everyone who came out to pick up trash on Saturday for the Tewksbury Clean Up Day. Through the efforts of energetic residents, an estimated 750 pounds of trash was picked up over a four hour period from eleven target areas all over town. Teams of families, friends, and new friends worked on the DPW's list of areas most in need of attention. All in all, nearly 8 miles of Tewksbury roads were tackled.

We'd like to thank the Tewksbury Home Depot for their donation of bags and gloves, the Bicycle and Pedestrian Advisory Committee for the use of their safety vests, the Tewksbury Police Department for their safety cones, and the DPW for pick sticks, spot pick up and trash disposal. Market Basket and Merrimack Valley Pavilion provided great gifts for a raffle in which all participants were entered, but it was clear that everyone worked for a better Tewksbury, not for prizes.

Plans are already underway for a Fall 2014 clean up and Spring 2015 event. Working together, we believe that we can engage business owners to incorporate clean up as part of their overall development strategy, residents to take pride in their neighborhoods, and demonstrate that a neat Tewksbury will become known as a "neat" place to be.

Regards,
Jackie Stone, Chairperson
Tewksbury Beautification Committee

Let's Talk About Hearing

by Lolly Wigall

Hot and humid

I am so glad the cold and windy weather is behind us for a few months. I personally love the spring and summer and fall. I am an avid gardener.

I have enjoyed learning about plants and where they thrive. It is a great challenge to my creativity to have "something blooming all the time wherever you look in my garden." It is an exercise in noticing the small things about plants. I have to notice and remember when places in my yard are sunny or shady. Then, I have to research which plants will like that shady side of the house.

Last year we added to our home, and I "lost" at least half of my garden to construction and the addition. I am in the process of re-building patios and re-landscaping the yard. It is work that requires hours in the sun moving earth, rocks, patio bricks and gravel. The yard's sunniness has changed. I have to research what I need to plant to fulfill my dream of constant blooms.

Gladly I am not alone in my love of gardening. Many friends like to garden too. They too sweat and get dirty.

Many of my friends wear hearing aids and complain they cannot wear their aids while they are working in the garden. My friends complain that the hearing aids get sweaty, too and stop working.

There are products that can be used to reduce and eliminate moisture in hearing aids. Of course, if someone is in an air conditioned home, the humidity is less. But, admittedly, summer humidity is hard on any electric device.

The most common product uses silica gel to draw the moisture into the beads and away from the hearing aids. The silica gel can be "dried out" and re-used over and over again. It is important to remove the battery from the hearing aids, since the power will be greatly reduced if left in the aids.

I usually recommend that patients not wear their hearing aids while they are gardening. If the hearing aids were to accidentally fall, it is difficult to find them in the dirt. I know I like people to hear well, but some activities are not conducive to wearing hearing aids. Common sense rules in this situation. And, best of all we will enjoy the hot and humid weather because we can be in our gardens.

Letters to the editor

Thanks to Nichols Funeral Home

Dear Editor,
We are writing this letter to recognize the tremendous care we received from Nichols Funeral home when we lost our beloved family member Evelyn Griffin. From the moment we walked in the door Margaret and Joe took away all the stress of planning and allowed us the time we needed to grieve. Seeing familiar faces such as Bobby Shelley and Joe McMahon is a comfort in a time of great loss.

The staff of Nichols went above and beyond to accommodate any of our family needs while providing a professional setting for friends and family that came to pay their condolences.

Wilmington should be proud they have such a wonderful local business to help their residents in a time of need. The Griffin, Riley and Pereira families thank you so very much.

Tarr Secures Funds for Wilmington Cancer Study in State Budget

Study Nears Completion with Peer Review Authorization

BOSTON - Building on years of exhaustive research and examination of the possible link between contaminants entering Wilmington's drinking water supply, the Meadowbrook Aquifer, from the former Olin Chemical Plant, and the town's above average rate of child cancer cases, Senate Minority Leader Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester) announced Tuesday that he successfully secured an amendment to the Fiscal Year 2015 state budget to bring those efforts to a productive conclusion. The amendment authorizes the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) to expend the necessary funds to solicit external peer review comments on the study, which is the product of several years and countless hours of work that first began in 2000.

This study has the potential to produce powerful information to understand environmental threats posed by contamination and to protect public health in areas

Wilmington," said Senator Tarr. "In doing so it will capitalize on unyielding work by local officials, community activists, and state government to get to the truth about the contaminants and what we can do together to make sure that we do everything possible to ensure that residents are safe."

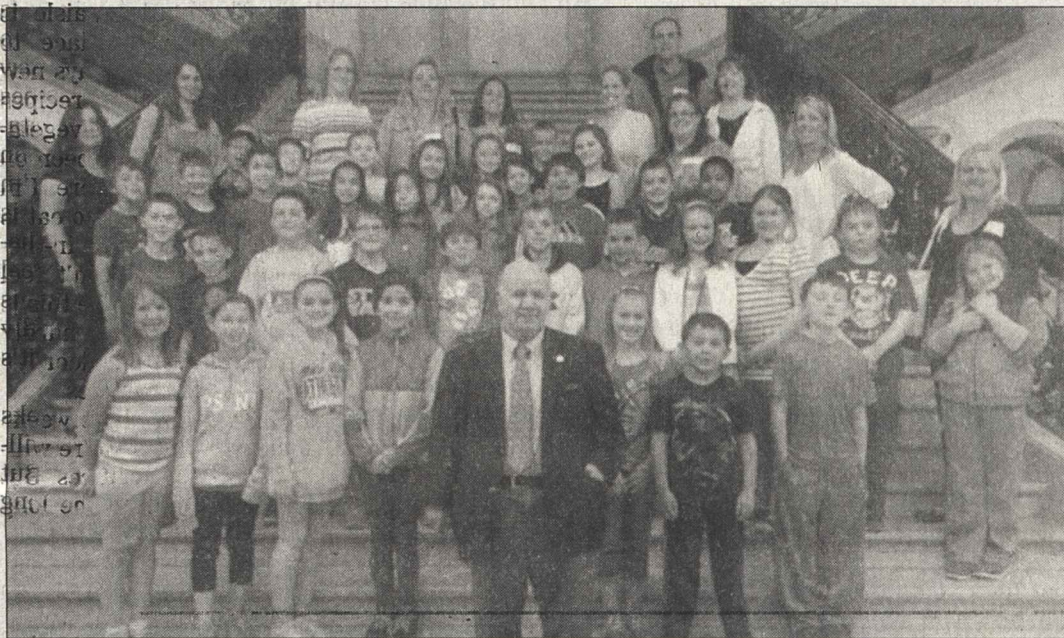

Rep. Jim Miceli, who has been a long-time supporter of the study, struck a cautious tone. The peer review, which is expected to be completed sometime in the next month, may identify issues that need further study, and Miceli said funds to cover any additional work are not included in the amendment. "We've funded the study and the peer review," said Miceli. "Now we're hoping the review says the study is complete."

The Wilmington Childhood Cancer Study has gone through several phases of its examination since 2000 when DPH researchers began examining the potential connection between toxins in the drinking water and the alarming rates of child brain cancer, Hodgkin's Disease, non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma, and leukemia. Although no definitive conclusions have been reached yet, the old Olin Chemical Plant located at 51 Eames St, now closed and since turned into a 53-acre Superfund site, is strongly believed to be responsible for leaking toxins into the town's drinking water.

The additional funding from Tarr's amendment aims to cover the costs associated with the peer review of the study- the last step prior to publication - and ultimately provide answers to the dozens of Wilmington families who've been without them since the start of the study.

With the amendment now included in the legislature's final version of the FY'15 state budget, which passed the House by a vote of 144-7 and the Senate by a vote of 38-1, the spending bill now goes before the Governor for his signature.

Miceli secures funding for Tewksbury needs in balanced FY15 budget

Rep. Lyons opposes budget

Boston - Two important local programs for the town of Tewksbury, secured solely by Representative James Miceli, have been included in the FY15 Joint Conference Committee Budget Report. The Conference Committee Report, engrossed by the House of Representatives, now goes to the desk of Governor Deval Patrick. Governor Patrick has 10 days to review the $36.5 billion proposal.

Included in the language of the proposal for Tewksbury is funding for Camp Pohelo and state monies for the creation of a library pilot program for the Tewksbury Public School system. Camp Pohelo is Tewksbury's specially designed summer needs program for children with special needs. With events ranging from sports to arts and music, the camp provides a fun, social atmosphere while addressing the additional care its attendees might require. In order to continue its operation, and address increasing enrollment the camp will receive $25,000 in state aid. In addition Representative Miceli secured $20,000 for the Tewksbury Public School system to improve the school system. The use of the funds aims to encourage library use by students in the public school system.

General benefits for the town of Tewksbury and Wilmington in the budget include a $25.5 million dollar increase from FY14 in the form of Unrestricted General Government Aid. Chapter 70 - general education funding, also received a record 4.4 billion in funding for statewide education support.

Other statewide goals include the allotment of funds to freeze rising tuition at the University of Massachusetts campuses, allocating over 10 million dollars to combating community drug addiction, and contributing 47.5 million to nursing home care to reduce the gap between Medicaid coverage and uncompensated care.

"I am proud to have been a part of this budget process," said Representative Miceli upon the proposal's passing. "Through cooperating with local officials, I was solely able to secure funding in the budget proposal to ensure that top-notch Tewksbury programs were able to continue and prepare our kids for a bright future."

In a statement released Tuesday, Rep. Jim Lyons cited the following seven points as their top reasons for opposing the spending bill:

1. The Precipitous Decline in Local Aid - which Lyons and other budget opposers say has not been restored to 2008 levels.

2. The Use of Tax Funded Benefits for Unqualified Recipients to the tune $1.8 billion.

3. The unchecked expansion of state spending, which Lyons says has increased by 30% under the Patrick Administration.

"Since 2007, it is estimated that the Patrick administration has expanded the number of employees on the state payroll by over 10,000. In addition, the number of state employees earning over $100,000 is up by 25%. With families and small businesses in the Commonwealth struggling to make ends meet every day, we cannot in good conscience vote for a budget that is so focused on the expansion of a political patronage job machine."

4. The Lack of Movement Towards Lowering Taxes

"Rather than looking towards providing relief to the hard working families and struggling small businesses upon which this expansion of the state government has been saddled, Democrat leadership on Beacon Hill has been looking for new ways to satisfy their insatiable desire to increase spending," said Lyons. "In 2013, they took the Tax Vote to end all Tax Votes when they indexed the Gas Tax to the Consumer Price Index (CPI). In doing so they created a mechanism for raising our taxes every year without having to deal with the political consequences of that vote. We cannot in good conscience vote for a state budget that is built upon revenues raised in this manner."

5. The Administration Scandals, including the Crime Lab Scandal, the compounding pharmacies scandal that resulted in the deaths of 48 people across the country, and the Department of Children and Families. "We cannot in good conscience vote for a budget that does not increase oversight of the State bureaucracy and enact real, meaningful reforms in areas of concern."

6. The Lack of Transparency in the Budget Process

7. The Pursuit of a Leftwing Social Agenda and Interference with Parental Rights

Alex Vispoli urges Transparency at State House

BOSTON - Alex Vispoli, Republican candidate for State Senate (2nd Essex & Middlesex District including Tewksbury) joined legislators Marc Lombardo, Shaunna O'Connell, Geoff Diehl, Jim Lyons, and Leah Cole in calling for more transparency at the State House.

Vispoli pledged to push for sunlight reforms when elected.

The transparency plan includes:

- Ending the bundling of amendments.
- Standing with any member who wants a

Roll Call vote

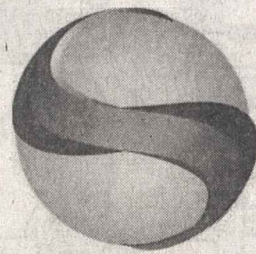

- Prohibiting the passage of spending bills in informal session

- Require conference committees meetings be open to the press and public

- Requiring the Ethics Committee to be bipartisan.

- Ending the legislative exemption from the public records law (Constituent work would be exempt for privacy reasons.)

"These are common sense steps to open the process and provide more accountability within the legislative process, I am pleased

And if I go, while you're still here... know that I live on,
vibrating to a different measure
behind a thin veil you cannot see through.

You will not see me,
so you must have faith.

I wait for the time when we can soar together again,
both aware of each other.

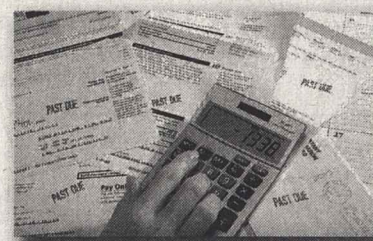

Until then, live your life to its fullest and when you need me,
just whisper my name in your heart,
...I will be there.

Pediatric Dental Care
of Wilmington

Pediatric Dental Care
of Wilmington
213 Main St, Wilmington
978-988-2100

Dr. Marcy Gabrilowitz is excited to announce the opening of Pediatric Dental Care of Wilmington in July. Pediatric Dental Care is a brand new, state of the art dental office for children aged 0+ conveniently located in Wilmington Crossing Plaza.

At Pediatric Dental Care, our goal is to create a fun, positive and educational experience for our patients and their families from the moment they walk through the door. We realize that going to the dentist can be difficult for children, so our team strives to create a warm, friendly and welcoming atmosphere. We pride ourselves in creating a relaxing environment for your child. Our goal is to develop a trusting relationship with our patients to provide both a pleasant experience and excellent dental care.

Dr. Marcy recommends the first visit by age one, treating children from infancy through young adulthood. Her aim is to create a lasting relationship with her patients, to put them at ease and make them feel at home in the office.
She believes prevention is the key to a healthy smile and a happy child. Dr. Marcy treats each child as if they were her own. She personalizes dental care for your child based on their age and needs. Her goal is for each child to leave with a smile on their face, looking forward to their next visit.

Dr. Marcy knew she wanted to be a dentist since she was eight years old. Working with children always came natural to her and specializing in pediatric dentistry

was an easy decision. She is thankful to have achieved this goal as her ambition
has always been to brighten the world
one smile at a time.
Dr. Marcy loves
what she does and hopes her enthusiasm and positive outlook on dentistry
radiates to her patients. With her calm and comforting manner, she strives to give children the best experience possible with hopes she can inspire her patients to love going to the dentist!

Dr. Marcy is now accepting new patients. To

World War II Veteran;
Retired from General Electric

SPRING HILL, FL - Alfred S. Blackburn, Jr. "Buddy", age 88, of Spring Hill, FL, formerly a long-time resident of Wilmington, MA, died peacefully on June 28, 2014.

Alfred was born on August 27, 1925, in Stoneham, MA; he was the son of the late Alfred S., Sr. and Edith (Wormersley) Blackburn. Alfred was raised and educated in Wilmington, MA before enlisting in the United States Army during World War II.

Alfred began active Service on October 1, 1943; he served overseas from December of 1944 through March of 1946 with the Army Corps of Engineers. His company served all over Central Europe and fought at the battle of Luzon. Alfred received several medals and commendations for his courageous service and was honorably discharged as a Staff Sergeant in April of 1946 returning home to his family in Wilmington.

Alfred married his beloved wife Valentina Costa in 1944; the couple lived in Wilmington and had many wonderful years together before her passing in 1992.

Prior to retiring, Alfred worked at the General Electric Company for many years. His work ethic and dedication to his job made him a favorite amongst his bosses as well as his co-workers.

In his spare time, Alfred enjoyed fishing and collecting mini cars; he could work on anything mechanical and was a talented gardener who made beautiful landscapes throughout his yard.

Following the death of his wife, Alfred went to visit some childhood friends in Spring Hill, Florida and enjoyed the area so much that within a couple of years he retired, bought his own place and made Spring Hill his new home. Albert made many friends in Florida and spent several years there with his companion Hazel Meyer before her passing in 2008.

Albert will be fondly remembered as a very kind and caring man; he loved his family and friends unconditionally and he will be truly missed by all who knew and loved him.

Albert was the cherished son of the late Alfred S. Sr. and Edith (Wormersley) Blackburn, beloved husband of the late Valentina (Costa), dear brother of Alice V. MacDonald of Salem, NH, the late Edith B. Millett, Florence V. Heenan, and Beverly A. Townley, loving uncle of several nieces and nephews. Alfred was also very special to his companion the late Hazel Meyer and her daughter Nancy (Meyer) Graves of Spring Hill, FL.

Family and friends will gather for a Funeral Service on Thursday, July 3rd at 11:00 a.m. in the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington. Interment with Military Honors to follow in Wildwood Cemetery. Visiting hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Wednesday, July 2nd from 5-7 p.m. In lieu of flowers donations in Alfred's memory may be made to a Hospice of your choice. www.nicholsfuneralhome.com

Worked many years in District and Attorney
General's office and court system

TEWKSBURY - Elaine Sabadini Duffy of Tewksbury died Saturday, June 28, 2014 after a long battle with cancer at the Sawtelle Hospice House in Reading. Formerly of Malden, Elaine was 76 years old.

Born September 17, 1937 in Boston at St Elizabeth's Hospital, Elaine was a long time resident of Malden. Her parents were Alfred and Helen Sabadini of Malden. She married the late Brendan Duffy of Boston on August 27, 1960 at St Joseph's Church in Malden and they were married for 51 years. They moved to Tewksbury in 2003 where they resided until their passing.

A 1955 graduate of Malden High School and of Chamberlain Junior College, Elaine worked at the Malden District Courthouse, the Middlesex County District Attorney's office and the Massachusetts Attorney General's office for many years. She loved her work and her co-workers and was well liked and respected at her job. She was also employed by the Malden YMCA in several positions and enjoyed being at the Y and at Camp Madaca with friends and family. She also had many friends and neighbors who she was very close with. She also volunteered at the Franciscan Center of Andover and at St. Leonard's Parish in Boston's North End.

Elaine is survived by her sons and their families: Marko and Carla Gasparello Duffy of Tewksbury and Kevin and Sharon Duffy of Malden. She is also survived by adoring grandchildren Geena, Marina, Sophia and Kieran. Elaine is remembered by loving cousins Debbie Panchella, Donna Purtell, Danny DiChiara, Dean DiChiara and Dennis McLaughlin and nieces and nephews Gifford Duffy, Elizabeth Ashwood, Joanne and Catherine Hirschman and their families.

The funeral will be held from the A. J. Spadafora Funeral Home, 865 Main Street, Malden on Thursday, July 3rd at 9 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial at Sacred Heart Church, 297 Main Street, Malden at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend. Visiting hours are Wednesday, July 2nd from 5-8 p.m. Interment will be private.

The family has requested that in lieu of flowers donations can be made to the Brendan and Elaine Duffy Collegiate Scholarship Fund c/o Malden High School, 77 Salem St. Malden, MA 02148.

Elaine was a woman of strong faith and loved to be surrounded by her lifelong family and friends and will be remembered as an amazingly devoted grandmother. Thank you to all who shared the life of this wonderful woman, wife, mother, auntie and nana.

Robert A. Durost

Owner of Durost Trucking; Vietnam Veteran

BILLERICA - Robert A. Durost, "Bob," "Scooby," age 66, of Billerica, formerly a long-time resident of Wilmington passed away on June 28, 2014 at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington, following a courageous battle with cancer.

Bob was born on August 30, 1947 in Hartland, Maine; he was the cherished son of Kathleen D. "Kay" Durost and the late Alton L. "Curly" Durost. Bob grew up in Detroit, ME until he and his family relocated to Wilmington in 1959. Bob was a graduate of Wilmington High School.

Bob enlisted in the Army on November 14, 1968 in Billerica, MA; he was a combat Veteran who courageously served his tour in Vietnam. Bob proudly served his country and was honorably discharged on June 20, 1970 at Fort Lewis, WA, returning to his family in Wilmington. Bob continued his duties with the Army Reserves until November 13, 1974.

Following his discharge from the Army, Bob went on to further his education earning a degree in Business. Bob was known to have a great work ethic and it was no surprise that he started his own trucking business, "Durost Trucking". Bob was a very dedicated owner and operator who travelled thousands of miles across country in his trucks. Bob also enjoyed visiting many places along the way and with a friendly personality he also befriended many people across the country. After more than 40 years of hard work, Bob finally retired. In his spare time, Bob had a passion for antique cars, motorcycles and guns.

Bob's family was the most important thing in his life and he appreciated them every day. Bob never failed to stop every week to bring his wife Roberta home a bouquet of flowers just to show his love for her; it was always the "little things" that meant the most to him. Bob was so proud to be a known as "Dad" and "Grampa Scooby" to his six grandchildren. His continuation of unconditional love and respect for others was returned to him by his beautiful and loving extended family who gave unwavering support throughout his illness.

Bob will be remembered as a genuinely nice guy who had a great sense of humor; he was a wonderful husband, father, grandfather, son, brother, uncles, and a true friend to many. Bob was a strong individual who faced his illness with grace and courage and fought every step of the way. Bob will be sorely missed by all who knew and loved him.

Bob was the beloved husband of Roberta E. Ferrari, devoted father of Christopher Durost & his wife Erica of Fulton, NY and Heather Robitaille & her husband Kevin of Nashua, NH, loving "Grampa Scooby" of Blake, Zachary, Garrett, Bobby, Chase Durost and Abigail Robitaille, cherished son of Kathleen D. "Kay" Durost of Billerica and the late Alton L. Durost, dear brother of William Durost & his wife Lucille of Tewksbury, Alton Durost, II & his wife Helen of Lyndeborough, NH, Carl Durost & his wife Jeanne of Wilmington and Kathleen Roberge & her husband Daniel of Stark, NH, brother-in-law of Gerald Ferrari, Ronnie Ferrari & his wife Carole, Bernie Ferrari & his wife Paula, Paul Ferrari & his wife Jeanette, Lenny Ferrari & his wife Colleen, Richie Ferrari & his wife Donna and John Ferrari, nephew of Cheryl DuPlessis of Greenville, ME. Bob is also survived by many nieces, nephews, great-nieces & nephews and great-nieces & nephews.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, for a Funeral Service on Monday, July 7th at 11:00 a.m. Interment with Military Honors to follow in Wildwood Cemetery.

Memorial donations in Bob's name may be made to the Wounded Warrior Project, PO BOX 758517, Topeka, KS 66675.

Deming Way seeking donations

To support Christmas Craft Fair

WILMINGTON - The residents of Deming Way Low Income Senior Housing are looking for donations for their annual Christmas Craft Fair.

The Christmas Craft Fair is their sole fund raising event each year. The money raised pays for buses for tenant trips and other activities at their Community Center, such as pot luck dinners, pizza parties and cookouts.

Deming Way and their Community Center is completely separate from the Wilmington Senior Center; even though, as residents of Wilmington, they are able to use the Senior Center and take advantage of the activities there.

For the past few years most of the donations have been "white elephant table" items. This year they would like to upgrade the items for sale and sell more craft items such as knitted items, crocheted items, and quilted items. This would make it a true Craft Fair.

Unfortunately, the residents are mostly older and unable to do needle crafts due to arthritis and other ailments.

So, the tenants association is asking for donations from townfolk to assist them in filling the tables of the Christmas Fair with items that will bring in enough proceeds to insure that there will be enough money in the treasury to hire buses for next year's trips.

If you are able to make any items to donate to the fair, the residents of Deming Way will be most appreciative. If you are able to make one or more items for us, please call Charlotte Guthrie at 978-658-4749 so that she can make a list of expected donations.

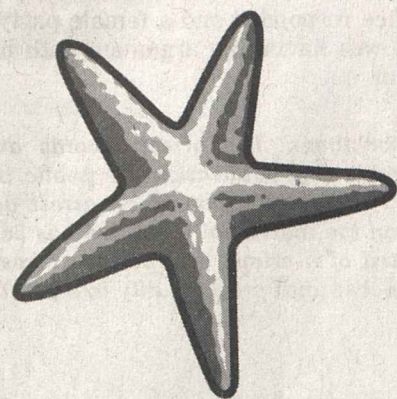

Thanks to the Town and the People of Wilmington for their continued support of the residents of Deming Way. We at Deming Way really appreciate your continued assistance. Also, thank you to the small businesses in Wilmington for all of their donations to our raffish table each year.

Lifestyle

Life's a beach!

Well, it ought to be this time of year. Here's The Town Crier Guide to Beachgoing, New England style.

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

Initially, we all set out for the beach to claim that idyllic experience of soft sand under our feet, a cool breeze, and the sweet sounds of waves lapping the shore.

Of course a few annoyances sometimes prevent us from achieving this state of nirvana. By the time you return home, you may feel like you need a vacation. This is why The Town Crier polled a few of our readers for tips on how they make their trips to the beach more enjoyable.

Travel
Start the trip off right - know your weather and traffic conditions before leaving home. Some of our readers use accuweather.com. For traffic, Boston.com allows you to view real-time road conditions along with current speed so if you don't want to travel 7 miles per hour, you can map a different route. You can also create an email alert to be notified of any problems. Select locations have traffic cameras: boston.com/news/traffic/.

Mass Dot.com also offers traffic cameras through "GO Time" real time traffic system, which uses Bluetooth technology to measure travel and vehicle speed between two distances. Coverage areas include Boston, Burlington, Lowell, Reading, Woburn, Rte. 3, I-93, I-95 and statewide highway expansion is expected by 2015. www1.eot.state.ma.us.

And if you forget money for tolls or need to stop for any other reason, iExit is an app which allows you to check for gas, restaurants, hotels and everything else ahead at your next exit. www.iexitapp.com.

From car to beach

Getting onto the beach is sometimes a trip in itself. The number one item our readers recommend is a beach cart. Foldable with all-terrain wheels, you can load it with chairs, an umbrella, and up to 100 pounds of beach gear. One Crier reader said she recently went to the beach without hers and regretted it.

Another suggestion - make each beach-goer responsible for their own backpack and lunch cooler. This lightens your load and is especially helpful with older kids in tow.

One parent rotates the items she brings each time such as boogie boards, balls, and Frisbees because it minimizes the load. She also arrives later in the afternoon for better parking and less congested beaches.

Gadgets for the beach

A popular item with our readers is a sand anchor which stops umbrellas from blowing away in the wind.

For those concerned about sun damage, Oregon Scientific's EB612 personal UV monitor keeps track of how much sun you've had. With a convenient wrist-strap, the unit has a count-down timer which indicates when you need Molly Lydon and Lily O'Hearn swam together at Wilmington's Silver Lake on Tuesday. The town has new regulations this year and raised the non-resident rate for beachgoers to $10 per person. Most ocean beaches, like Wingaersheek in Gloucester or Singing Beach in Manchester-By-The-Sea charge $20-$25 per car to park.

shade based on your skin type, sunscreen, and intensity of the sun.

If on a particularly hot day you yearn for more of a breeze, CVS sells battery-operated fans with water misters.

To keep the younger ones safely close by, some parents recommend a pop-up kiddie pool, which doubles as a foot bath when it's time to pack-up.

You may find that you want to walk the beach, but who will stay behind to watch your belongings? One reader uses an empty wipe bottle to hide her wallet and accessories. A recent photo circulating on Facebook showed the use of a ball-up diaper to hide valuables. That's one way to keep people away from your belongings.

When you decide to go for a dip in the ocean, waterproof iPhone cases are a big hit. If you get lost in thought and lose your way back, there's a solution for that: place bright pinwheels in the sand by your blanket. They'll stay in motion with the breeze and you'll always find your way back to home base.

Food

The heat, sand, and ocean will make you hungry. It's a good idea to bring your own food since concessions stands tend to be overpriced with limited options.

Think hassle-free: eliminate the need for paper plates or utensils by packing finger foods in single-serving Ziploc bags. For snacks, try fresh vegetables, pretzels, crackers, trail mix, or fresh fruit. Watermelon is a bit messy, but has a high water content and helps with hydration.

Hydration is important. Replace sodas and high-sugar drinks with water, homemade iced tea or lemonade (so you control the sugar.) Freeze water bottles and juice boxes the night before so they are cold and refreshing when they thaw the next day.

Pack more substantial food for lunch: Pita bread with hummus, pasta salad, cheese sticks with crunchy breadsticks, or peanut butter and jelly wraps are good choices.

Back to the car

Baby powder is highly recommended by our readers to remove wet sand from the body. One reader recommends a snow brush for sandy feet. Some leave a gallon jug of water in the car or use a bucket filled with ocean water for a light foot rinse.

A change of clothes or beach cover-up makes the ride home more pleasant, with plastic bags for wet, sandy bathing suits.

There's a lot more to a beach visit than just throwing down a blanket and sticking an umbrella in the sand. Hopefully one or more of the items on this list will make your next trip seem less like a chore and more like a vacation.

Garden-tainment

Create Lasting Memories for Guests

BY MELINDA MYERS

Summer is filled with parties, gatherings, picnics and more. We all want to make these occasions special and memorable for our guests.

Many gardeners tend to schedule events around peak bloom or harvest in order to share the beauty and flavor from their garden.

Unfortunately nature does not always cooperate. It seems we are saying "you should have been here last week" or "come back next week when the flowers will be at their peak".

No need to worry. It may be considered cheating by the purist, but isn't it all about creating a great space and event for our guests?

Consider adding some fun flower accents. Metal flower sculptures like daisy bouquet stakes, hollyhock stem stakes or aluminum fiddleheads insure color throughout the season.

Or make it fun with faucet handle flowers (Gardeners.com), which are sure to spark some conversation amongst your guests.

You can also add some extra color with a bit of floral paint. Use garden colors to paint seedheads of flowers past their prime. Just cover the stem and leaves to insure only the seedheads get painted for a more realistic look. It might fool your guests or give them a good idea for their own garden.

Or stop by your local garden center. Many have flowering planters and large size annuals that you can use to fill in voids and add color to the garden.

Pot a few of these up and use them as centerpieces on the tables. A search of the garage or visit to a thrift store may find reasonably priced fun items you can convert into containers.

Keep your guests comfortable and the mosquitoes at bay with the gentle breeze of a fan. Mosquitoes are weak fliers and the gentle breeze of a fan can keep them away. Or step it up with the help of geranium oil. It's natural, fragrant, and can help repel mosquitoes.

And be sure to include fresh-from-the-garden flavor in your beverages and dishes. A pot of basil or mint near the party means guests can flavor their own lemonade tea or mojito. The hollow stem of lovage, cut down to size makes a great straw for your tomato juice or bloody Mary. Your guests won't forget the fun of sipping their drink through this celery-flavored straw.

Then add some color and a gourmet touch to your salads with a few edible flowers. Nasturiums, roses, and calendulas are just a few to consider. Just be sure they are edible and pesticide-free before serving them to your guests.

Use fresh-from-the-garden or container herbs for grilling, salads and your main course. And consider drying a few herbs or starting cuttings from your plants to use as party favors.

Don't let the sunset put an end to your celebration. Light up the evening with solar illuminated planters, solar pathway lighting and decorative fiber optic lights. Or go old school and set votive candles in a mason jar or tucked safely in the garden.

So set aside some time to take a walk through the garden and plan a party or two for you, your family and friends to enjoy its beauty.

Gardening expert, TV/radio host, author & columnist Melinda Myers has more than 30 years of horticulture experience and has written over 20 gardening books, including Can't Miss Small Space Gardening and the Midwest Gardener's Handbook. She hosts The Great Courses "How to Grow Anything" DVD series and the nationally syndicated Melinda's Garden Moment segments. Myers is also a columnist and contributing editor for Birds & Blooms magazine. Myers' web site, www.melindamyers.com, offers gardening videos and tips.

Metal flower sculptures like daisy bouquet stakes can instantly add interest and color to the garden.

The next Men's Group meeting will be held on Thursday, July 10th at 9:00 AM. All men 60+ are welcome.

The MS Support Group will hold its monthly meeting next Monday, July 21st at 10:00 AM. This group is open to the public.

The next foot care clinic will be held on Thursday July 21st. At this time that clinic is full; however we will take names for a waiting list. Going forward we will not allow patients to book for the next month at the time of their appointment. In order to be fair to the entire community we will take reservations for the next clinic on the Monday following the scheduled clinic.

The Friends of the Elderly and will hold a YARD SALE at the Senior Center on Saturday, July 26th from 9:00 AM to 2:00 PM. Table space is available to the general public at $15 per table or $25 for two. There will be 30 tables of treasures, a bake table, and a lunch table, featuring Chef Nick's corn chowder. The Yard Sale is being held rain or shine. The public is welcome and admission is free. Mark your calendars for this big event.

DJ Jon Mansfield will be back to the Senior Center for an afternoon dance on Monday, July 28th.

Those who obtain a ticket by July 23rd will have lunch included in the $6 tickets price.

Rep Jim Miceli will hold office hours on Tuesday July 29th from 9:30AM to 11:30AM at the Senior Center.

On August 15, 2014 the GAC will hold a fashion show featuring clothes from the Upscale Consignment Shop. The cost is $10 per person to attend. We are still looking for models. Keep checking back, more information will be posted soon.

Lastly, the public is reminded that the Senior Center's Upscale Consignment Boutique and the Snooti Patooti Gift Shop have some great deals! Please note: the Snooti Patooti Hours change in the summer; Mon-Thurs 11am-1pm and Fri 9-11am. The Upscale Consignment Boutique's hours remain the same. I am sorry if there was any confusion caused by last week's article. All proceeds from the shops support the programs and activities at the Senior Center.

Cactus Gang kicks off the Summer Concert Series!

WILMINGTON - The 2014 "Sounds of Summer" Concert series begins on the Wilmington Town Common on Wednesday, July 9 from 6:30 - 8:00 p.m. with the debut performance of Cactus Gang, New England's premier country band! This concert is sponsored by Analog Devices.

Cactus Gang is a high energy six-piece country music band playing today's current country hits, while sprinkling in some classics of yesterday. If this band's song list is any indication, we are in for a night of familiar songs that will have us tapping our toes and singing along. Aren't we all just a little bit country? Bring dinner, chairs or a

Fourth of July Activities 2014

The 34th Fun on the Fourth Celebration will run from Wednesday July 2nd to Saturday July 5th.

On Wednesday night all events will be held at the Town Common. There will be a band, dinner and a movie sponsored by Rotary Club of Wilmington. We will also have sporting events and contests that night. General and handicap parking will be at the parking lot next to the Fourth of July Building. The restrooms in the Fourth of July building will be open to the public.

Our 20th Annual Family Day events will be held on Friday morning on the Town Common until 12:30 pm including games, entertainment, Breakfast and Lunch. The carnival will open at 12 noon at the Shriners. Special Carnival Ride Wrist Bands can be purchased on Family Day for $10 and are good for all rides until 5pm that afternoon.

All other events and activities will be held at the Shriners on Thursday night and on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings. Events will include dinners, bands, community group booths and the Carnival. Picnic tables will be provided for people to eat their meals and food purchases from the community group booths. An area will be set aside for folding chairs for viewing and listening to the bands. The restrooms in the Shriners Auditorium will be open to the public. The Shriners Fez room will be used for meals in the event of rain.

Our traditional "Spectacular Fireworks" display will be on Saturday night and will be shot from the northwest end of the Shriners upper parking lot. The southeast end of the Shriners upper parking lot will be open to the public as a viewing area.

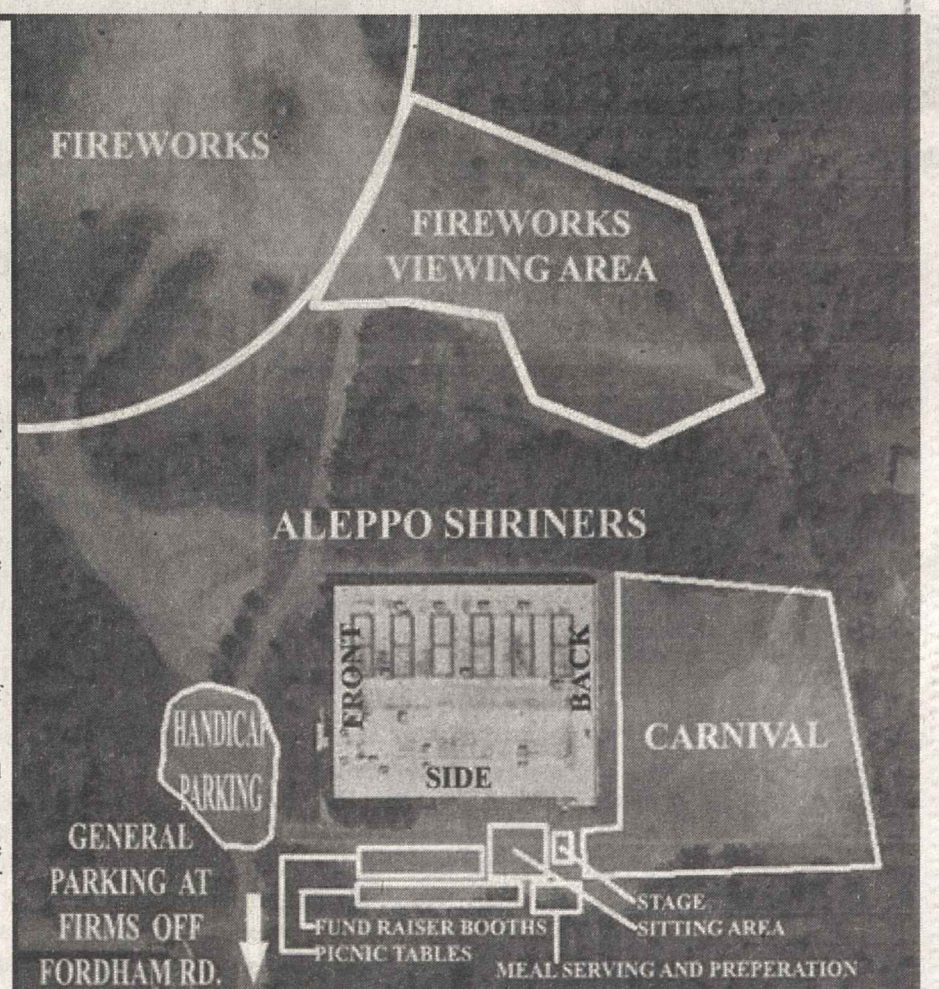

Handicap parking will be provided on the traffic circle in front of the Shriners on a first come basis.

General parking will be provided in company parking lots along Fordham Road. The Wilmington Police will be in charge of general parking.

Buses will be provided on Saturday night from various public parking areas around town. Maps showing parking areas and bus routes can be found on the Fourth of July web site: www.funonthefourth.com.

The Fourth of July headquarters is open now until July 5th for purchasing meal tickets, merchandise and clothing. The Shriners box office will also be open from July 3rd to July 5th for meal tickets during event hours. See our schedule for office and box office hours. Schedules can be downloaded from the Fourth of July website: www.funonthefourth.com.

The Fourth of July Committee wishes to thank the Aleppo Shriners for their generosity and hospitality.

Sullivan completes basic military training in Texas

Air Force Airman First Class Shawn P. Sullivan of Wilmington, graduated from basic military training at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Sullivan is the son of Steven and Judith Sullivan and grandson of Alice Sullivan also of Wilmington.

He is a 1998 graduate of Wilmington High School.

Pat Fregeau tried a few of the many home cooked dishes brought to the St. Elizabeth's picnic on Saturday.

The Golden Rule has always guided the owners and staff at Tewksbury Funeral Home. Caring for and guiding the family of a loved one who has passed is the most important part of our service.

A family of service minded people intent on helping the community in many ways, the Deputat family has helped charter and is a member of several civic organizations in Tewksbury.

When one visits the funeral home one is steeped in the town's history. The building was built over a century ago and has been in the family well over half that time. Lovingly restored and improved by hand by Walter Deputat, the facility is designed to accommodate large and small gatherings, all in the comfort of our up-to-

We invite families to contact us in time of need or for preplanning. We are dedicated to providing the very best facilities, a full range of merchandise, and the finest funeral services at a reasonable cost.

We are committed to serving Tewksbury and the surrounding towns with compassionate services at a cost that only a family owned provider can offer.

Our goal is to not only to meet, but to exceed, our client expectations.

Concert: Ragtime with Deborah Wyndham!(RR)

Tuesday, July 15, 2pm
Pianist Deborah

Wyndham plays and shares the history of our nation's first 'pop' music: ragtime. Ragtime influenced many musicians and styles of music and is considered the beginning of jazz. With different ethnic musical influences and at first rejected by society for its unusual, syncopated rhythm and venues where it was played, ragtime later on received wide acclaim and its popularity spread fast. Ragtime is an important part of our American musical heritage.

Library News

4th of July Holiday Schedule

Please note that the library will close at 5pm on Thursday, July 3 and will be closed on Friday July 4. The library will be closed on Saturdays beginning July 6 until Saturday, September 6.

Construction Work on Middlesex Ave.

The Department of Public Works will be working on Middlesex Avenue in front of the public library the week of July 7 and July 14 in order to connect the new water main to the library. Access and egress to the library's parking lot from Middlesex Avenue may be limited during construction hours. Library patrons are advised to use the Wildwood Street entrance to the library's parking lot during this time. Your patience and cooperation is appreciated.

Assistant Children's Librarian To Retire

Barbara Michaud, Assistant Children's Librarian, will be retiring at the end of July. For the past seventeen years Barbara has touched the lives of many children introducing them to books and reading through numerous storytime sessions and with her friendly help and guidance. During the month of July, please stop by to wish her well and sign the good-bye scrapbook.

TO: Robert W. Spalding of Melbourne in the State of Florida, Martha J. Spalding of Chelmsford in the County of Middlesex, and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by Douglas A. Spalding of St. Albans in the State of Maine, representing that He holds as tenants in common a 1/3 undivided part or share of certain land lying in Tewksbury in the County of MIDDLESEX and briefly described as follows:

Parcel 1
A certain parcel of land situated on the EASTERLY side of Trull Street, in said Tewksbury, containing 14,567 square feet, and shown as Lot C on a certain plan of land entitled "subdivision of Part of Lot 5 as shown Upon Plan Entitled Plan of Land in Tewksbury, Mass., Belonging to ES-TATE OF THOMAS NESMITH, dated June 1925, Complied October 15, 1952, Brooks, Jordan and Graves, Civil Eng'rs., Lowell, Mass." Which plan has been filed at the Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 82, Plan 140B, and bounded and described as follows:

Northerly By land now or formerly owned by George W. Trull one hundred twenty-five (125) feet;

Easterly By land now or formerly owned by the Estate of Thomas Nesmith one hundred twenty-five (125) feet;

Southerly By Lot B as shown on said plan one hundred twenty-five (125) feet; and Westerly By said Trull Street one hundred twenty (120) feet.

Meaning and intending to convey to the grantees all and the same premises conveyed to C. Gerald Spalding and the grantor, husband and wife, as tenants by the entirety, by deed of Mabel M. Barkley dated June 4, 1953 and recorded with Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds at Book 1227, Page 100. C. Gerald Spalding died on January 21, 2000.

Parcel 2
A certain parcel of land situated easterly of, but not adjoining, Trull Street and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the northeasterly corner of Lot C on a plan of land entitled, "Subdivision of Part of Lot 5 as Shown Upon Plan Entitled Plan of Land in Tewksbury, Mass., belonging to Estate of Thomas Nesmith, dated June 1925, Brooks, Jordan and Graves, Civil Eng'rs., and recorded in Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 82, Plan 140B; thence southerly by the easterly line of said Lot C, one hundred twenty (120) feet to Lot B on said plan; thence easterly by said Lot B and by land formerly of the Estate of Thomas Nesmith, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet; thence northerly in a line parallel with the easterly line of said Lot C, one hundred twenty (120) feet to land formerly of George W. Trull; thence westerly by said land formerly of said George W. Trull by a wall, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet to the point of beginning.

Being a part of Lot 5 on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Tewksbury, Mass., belonging to Estate of Thomas Nesmith," surveyed June 1925, Brooks, Jordan and Graves, Civil Engineers, and recorded in said Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 58, Plan 91.

Being a part of the premises conveyed to the said Florence Nesmith by Albert S. Howard by deed dated November 15, 1919 and recorded in said Registry of Deeds, book 616, Page 228.

Being the same premises described in a deed from Eugenia M. Spalding to Robert W. Spalding, Douglas A. Spalding, and Martha J. Spalding with reserved Life estate dated December 21st, 2000 and recorded in North Middlesex Registry of Deeds Book 11250 Page 116. The grantor died April 9, 2014.

Setting forth that the petitioner desires that all said land may be ordered to be sold at private sale or public auction, for not less than ($270,000.00) TWO HUNDRED SEVENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end, that commissioners be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any portion of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute and pay over the net proceeds thereof in such manner as to make the partition just and equal.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in said Court at Cambridge before ten o'clock, on the fourth day of August, 2014 the return date of this citation.

Witness, HONORABLE Edward F. Donnelly, Jr., Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this twenty-third day of June, 2014.

New Executive Director at WCTV

of Framingham Public Access Corporation, where his initial responsibility was to source and secure a new location for the studio. He negotiated space at a local middle school, and in doing so he was able to incorporate classes for students in television production. This experience primed Innis to become Stoughton Media Access Corporation's first executive director, again tasked with securing a new space, transforming an empty warehouse into a state-of-the-art public access facility.

"I was also responsible for building the membership from the ground up," said Innis. "I created a new set of rules and regulations for members and started a sponsorship program for local businesses to gain more exposure via access television channels."

In his current role at WCTV, Innis will oversee day-to-day operations of the facility, growing the summer youth programs and initiating additional programming so current members visit the studio more often. "We're also upgrading our facilities to comply with high definition standards," he said.

Innis has experience on both sides of the camera. He produced football and hockey games aired on Framingham's Public Access Television and he was on-air talent for Braintree cable news.

Community Television has been part of Innis' life since he graduated college. He thrives on fresh ideas from the public. "Whether it's public service announcements, music videos, or cooking shows, I like seeing people come in and helping them build upon their ideas."

Innis feels public access is important to a community because it allows residents to speak their mind. "And it provides an opportunity to create enlightened programming. You're only limited by your imagination," he said.

In the upcoming weeks, Innis looks forward to meeting the Wilmington community. He has an open door policy and welcomes residents or business members to stop by and say hello. "That's what public access is all about," he said. "We're here for the public."

New rules for Silver Lake beach

$10.00 per person, making this little beach more expensive than most, if not all, North Shore ocean beaches.

Dogs are no longer allowed on Silver Lake or properties adjacent to the water. Specifically 49 Grove Avenue, 47 Grove Avenue, Grove Avenue/Baby Beach, 79 Main Street, 81 Main Street and 5 Burnap Street from May 1 to October 1.

Dogs are not allowed on Baby Beach either, which is closed this summer for a trial run. The beach previously was largely unsupervised and there are no lifeguards, which made it a target for misconduct. The town is closing the beach this summer to minimize disturbances in the area. Violation of this rule results in a $50 fine.

Fire pits, open flames, grills and other types of cooking devices to prepare food are not allowed on town beaches and town property adjacent to Silver Lake, specifically 49 Grove Avenue, 47 Grove Avenue, Grove Avenue/Baby Beach, 79 Main Street, 81 Main Street and 5 Burnap Street, subject to a permit granted by the Recreation Commission. Violation is a $50 fine.

In addition, the town has implemented a "carry in, carry out" policy. There will no longer be trash barrels on the beach due to various issues: barrels overflowing with trash or rainwater and bees congregating around those areas. Beachgoers are responsible for removing all their own trash from the beach. Those who forget a trash bag may be able to obtain one from a lifeguard, as the Board of Health has donated some to be handed out.

Alcohol and smoking is not permitted on the beach. And as previously reported in the Town Crier, as of May 6, 2014, smoking and the use of any tobacco product(s) is prohibited in Wilmington at town-owned playgrounds, parks, beaches, recreational areas, and facilities. A violation may result in loss of beach privileges or fines.

Parking is now prohibited on Grove Avenue from the southwest corner of 3 Grove Avenue on the north side to Burnap Street, on the south side from Main Street to Burnap Street, encompassing the property formerly known as the DAV property, on Burnap Street from Grove Avenue to Pond Street, and on Pond Street in the direction to the southwest corner of 1 Pond Street. Violation of this rule results in a $15 fine.

Green Chemistry co-founder wins Perkin Medal

Dr. John Warner, Wilmington native, founder of Warner Babcock Institute for Green Chemistry

By ERIKA JOHNSON
Town Crier Correspondent
Erika@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - Dr. John C. Warner, a Wilmington resident, has been awarded the 2014 Perkin Medal by the Society of Chemical Industry, the highest honor in American applied chemistry.

Joining a list of the greatest scientists and inventors in United State history who have received this award, Dr. Warner is one of the original founders of green chemistry, the science of designing materials and processes that reduce or eliminate the use and or generation of hazardous material.

"It is a great honor and privilege to be receiving this award," said Warner, "I feel that this wonderful recognition is not really just to me, but to all the people who have been working tirelessly in the green chemistry community."

Warner has had a successful career in the science field. He received his doctorate in organic chemistry from Princeton University then worked as a researcher for Polaroid. Following a stint teaching at UMass Boston, he founded the Center for Green Chemistry at UMass Lowell. In 2007, he founded the Warner Babcock Institute for Green Chemistry with investment firm executive James Babcock. The Institute, located at 100 Research Drive in Wilmington, studies the intermolecular forces in materials and applies the knowledge to manufacturing processes in order to create technologies that lead to better performance, are practical and cost-effective for their clients.

Towns meet, raise concerns about gas pipeline

John Moak, the Town Administrator of Pepperell, said that there are three groups at risk here: homeowners, those with either land trusts or who are concerned with the environment, and municipalities themselves. And any of those groups standing alone wouldn't accomplish much, if anything at all—which is why the coalition is so necessary.

It is "one more group that can work together in regard to mutual interests," he said. It gives them more clout with the federal government.

Pepperell, he said, "has been dealing with the pipeline issue for a while." And it has captured residents' attention there and in surrounding towns. Pepperell held a Special Town Meeting on Monday that drew 432 people. Stuart Schulman, a Selectman from Groton, said they've held a meeting about the pipeline every week.

So the Pepperell selectmen understandably wanted to bring in other towns.

And this isn't the only coalition. The Berkshire towns are reportedly forming one. And Paula Terrasi, Pepperell's conservation administrator, said that a Coalition of Ashburnham to Dracut has been meeting every two weeks and has met with the Undersecretary of Energy and will do so again.

Many of the officials present asserted that Kinder Morgan hasn't been forthcoming with information. Beverly Woods of the Northern Middlesex Council of Governments went so far as to say that they haven't been genuine.

Some of the towns are in different stages. Tyngsboro, for instance, wants to participate, but was cautious about joining an organization strictly focused on opposition, said Michael Gilleberto, the Town Administrator.

And Wilmington sent Bill

Holt, the Assistant Town Engineer, to gather information. They're expected to make a decision on whether they'll oppose or support the pipeline soon.

The group wondered whether they could suggest that the pipeline be built along a major highway—say, Route 2. Representative Sheila Harrington mentioned this as a possibility in her letter to the group.

But many were also concerned that they could simply be dumping the pipeline onto other towns. Moak said that a Pepperell Selectman thought that the pipeline should be in a location that doesn't affect other towns. Sue Lisio, a Selectman from Townsend, agreed.

The coalition will next meet on July 14 and will discuss their mission statement.

Tewksbury, Wilmington, Dunstable, Ashby, Townsend, Groton, Dracut, Tyngsboro, in addition to Pepperell, all sent representatives.

Fall to Reading on Tuesday night

Major League All-Stars split two games of pool play

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com

WILMINGTON- The Wilmington 12-year-old All-Star Baseball team fell to Reading on Tuesday night to even its record to 1-1 in the District Pool Play Division.

After beating North Reading 8-5 on Tuesday, Wilmington faced a potent Reading team at Rotary Park on Tuesday night. Despite exemplary play from a large number of the team, Wilmington's efforts could not overcome Reading, falling 3-1.

Even with this setback, the players and coaches remain optimistic about the remaining games left in the post-season.

"We knew that they were going to be probably the best team that we were going to face," admitted manager Brian Kane.

To prepare for this challenge, Kane placed Dom Pedi on the mound. Pedi had an excellent night, rocketing strikes over home again and again. Pedi managed to maintain his cool under pressure, even when he faced loaded bases with only one out in the top of the second. Pedi continued to find the sweet spot, and he retired Reading without any of the base runners scoring.

Despite this solid foundation, minor errors and faulty defensive plays allowed Reading to gain offensive momentum that Wilmington could not stop. A pair of errors in the very first inning allowed two runs to score, placing Wilmington into a deficit that they would not escape for the rest of the game.

"We had our chances," Kane said. "But the difference is that they made a few more plays than we did."

Even with several big bats coming up strong, Wilmington could not seem to spark any of their own momentum. Pedi was stranded on first after a single in the first, while Nolan Ritchie and Zack Kincaid were similarly left hanging in the third after Ritchie's walk and Kincaid's single.

Wilmington's best chance to turn the tide came in the bottom of the fourth, when Chris Robarge, Jared Venezia, Tristan Ciampa all hammered singles to stack the bases with potential runs. But strike outs and Reading defense blocked any possible runs before they could occur.

"There were situations where we didn't get the runs in and they made the right plays," Kane said. "This is a game of inches, and you need to make your own breaks. Tonight, we didn't."

A break for the Wildcats did come in the bottom of the fifth. Sean Kelley walked to start the inning, followed by a Kincaid wallop to send him to second. Kelley and Kincaid would steal their way to third and second, respectively, placing them in prime scoring position. Kyle Monroe buried the ball for a deep single, sending Kelley sprinting home to place Wilmington within one run of a tied game.

Reading did not take this lightly, and they move quickly in the fifth to dash Wilmington's hopes of claiming the lead. Despite strong efforts from relief pitcher Robarge and excellent defensive play by shortstop Richie McNamara, Reading runners managed to steal their way around the bags and score a third run.

Hits from Bailey Smith and Dean Nally in the bottom of the sixth seemed to suggest a Wilmington comeback, but these hopes were snuffed out quickly including a nice defensive play by Reading to end the game.

In the win over North Reading, Wilmington scored five runs in the first inning on hits from McNamara and Kincaid before a three-run home run from Pedi. Kyle Munro and Christian Robarge also had hits and scored in the inning.

Kincaid finished the game with three hits and Robarge and McNamara each had two. Nolan Ricci also had a hit.

Richie McNamara pitched into the fifth inning, striking out six North Reading batters, before giving way to Nick Moore and Dom Pedi on the mound. Kyle Munro also caught six strong innings.

Wilmington will be back in action in the pool play competition with a game at Stoneham on Sunday, before coming back home on Tuesday at Rotary Park (5:45) to face Woburn.

The team includes: Tristan Ciampa, Sean Kelley, Zach Kincaid, Keith McDonald, Richie McNamara, Nick Moore, Kyle Munro, Dean Nally, Dom Pedi, Nolan Ricci, Christian Robarge, Bailey Smith, and Jared Venezia.

Triple A All-Star Baseball Game a major hit

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com

WILMINGTON- The Wilmington AAA Baseball season came to an exciting close on Sunday with an All-Star game that saw the best of both divisions smashing hits and firing in strikes in an effort to determine who was truly the best of the best.

With Henry Belding presiding over one team and Rich Stuart heading up the other, both teams threw everything they had into the effort.

Belding's All-Stars would prove to be triumphant, winning the game with a final score of 8-2. Despite the score, Belding insisted that the game was actually a tight race between two equally strong forces.

"They had a good hitting line-up," Belding said. "It came down to their good hitting versus our good pitching, and our good pitching managed to hold up."

"We had a bunch of great hits, but they kept getting caught," admitted Stuart. "That's the story of that game. All the big ones we hit went to their gloves, all of theirs went into the gaps."

Major credit for the victory rests with pitchers Andrew Severino, Evan Witaslvis, Devon McLaughlin, Jack Toomey, Ryan Ackerly, and Tyler Fenton. With each young man taking a turn on the mound and throwing for all they were worth, the strikes never stopped slamming home.

Further strength came from the great defensive game spearheaded by players such as Patrick O'Mahoney, Ryan Forcina, Luke Murphy, and Alex Fiorenza.

"The other team did hit the ball, but it was our defense in the outfield who caught a lot of balls and helped us out a lot," Belding said. "If those balls had fallen, that's hits and runs and momentum. But those young players made the catches."

McLaughlin also proved invaluable at bat, along with AJ Lavigne and Tommy Boyajin. With runs spread out across the entire duration of the game, Belding and his squad never gave the opposing team a chance to try and reclaim the lead.

No one was more surprised by this turn of the game than Belding, who had spent much of the team's short prep time trying to warn his players about the great number of obstacles which they would encounter in the All-Star game.

"We went in thinking we were the away guys, the underdogs," Belding said. "That really bonded us and made us want to go in and play hard against these guys."

Belding was rewarded with a team that seemed to congeal together effortlessly into a baseball-destroying machine that could not be stopped.

"Everyone hit well, everyone played well, it was an All-Star team around," Belding said. "Everyone chipped in. I was really impressed by the end."

Stuart also came away impressed with every single member of the All-Star team who landed on his bench.

"They all did a great job," Stuart said. "They were an all-star team all the way. When you have a bunch of kids who understand the game and like the game, it is very easy to coach."

For players and coaches alike, Sunday's All-Star game was a strong way to close out the season, with players from a wide variety of team putting aside their differences to work together and play as a single unit.

Both Belding and Stuart were left overwhelmed with enthusiasm to see just how much the young players had thoroughly the younger players had internalized the game of baseball and how strong and smart their play had become.

"You have to have that one common goal," Belding said. "Everyone wants to have fun and enjoy themselves, but once that first pitch comes down the line it's time to play baseball."

Stuart's team included: Nick Benson, Tyler Cardello, Liam Dwyer and Sean Messenger representing the Blue Jays; Jake Glinner, Patrick Xavier and Shane Roberts from the Giants; Tyler Rourke, Willie Stuart, Dylan Timmons and Adam LeBlanc from the Marlins; and Ben McEwen and Justin Doran from the Angels.

Belding's team included: Ryan Ackerley, Jack Toomey, Tommy Boyajin and Tyler Fenton from the Diamondbacks; Evan Witaliz, Andrew Severino, Luke Murphy and Alex Fiorenza from the Royals; and Patrick O'Mahoney, AJ

Levine, Dylan McLaughlin and Ryan Forcina from the Pirates.

HR Derby Winner

After the game was over, Wilmington Little League held its annual Home Run Derby for the 16-year-old players, who were graduating from league competition. Eric Steeves won this year's event. See his photo on page SP7C.

11 Yr Old All-Stars

The 11-Year-Old All-Stars were defeated 18-1 in their first game of pool play and will be back in action this week looking to get into the win column.

The team includes: The 11 year old all-stars are: Brendan Ardito; Andrew Gallucci; Derek Gallucci; Brendan George; Will Lawson; Tommy Mallinson; Aidan McGrath; AJ O'Brien; Kevin Palmerino; Nico Piazza; Jared Russell; Harry Seronian and Nolan Vigeant.

Northeast Baseball

After last week's bump in the road, the Wilmington Wildcats Northeast baseball team roared back to life with a pair of games to remind even the stiffest of foes that the 'Cats were not to be taken lightly.

The Wildcats kicked off the week right with a 6-1 victory over Dracut on Friday night. Matt Woods was terrific on the mound and was helped out by the big bats of Danny Stein, Brian Moran and Pete Daley who kept the runs pouring in while smart fielding kept Dracut runners stranded on bases without hope of scoring.

Things only improved on Tuesday, when the Wildcats traveled to Tewksbury. Wilmington got off to another quick start, burying Tewksbury with four runs in the top of the first inning. Dan Cronin and Moran got the night started off right with a pair of singles, which Stein drove home with a double. Stein would score thanks to a double by Devin Field. Justin Leger drove the last run of the inning home thanks to a single.

Great pitching by Nick Poli kept Tewksbury's bats silent until deep into the seventh, when Tewksbury came screaming to life and managed to knock five runs onto the board. But Wilmington (5-2) was able to retire the Redmen without ever surrendering the lead, with a final score of 9-6.

Several Wilmington athletes compete at Agganis All-Star Games

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
LYNN -- There were numerous outstanding performances for the Wilmington High Girls Soccer team as the Wildcats rolled to a 19-2-1 record and their third consecutive Middlesex League Division 2 championship as well as a berth in the Division 2 state championship game where they lost to Notre Dame Academy of Hingham on penalty kicks.

Last week, three members of that outstanding Wildcats team were honored for the great efforts, as Alex Bischoff, Cassie Grasso and Kaitlyn Curley each participated in the 19th Annual Girls Soccer All-Star Game at the Agganis Games held at Manning Field in Lynn last Wednesday.

Bischoff, a forward, along with midfielders Grasso and Curley helped lead the Agganis North squad to a 2-0 victory over the South. The trio was joined by one more member of the Wildcats squad who had an outstanding season, as coach Sue Hendee was on the sideline as an assistant coach to Melrose's Bill Desimone.

For Hendee, it was a thrill to be part of such a prestigious event, and it was made even better by watching three of her best players compete with and against some of the best players from around the state.

"The game was great, really nice to be a part of. I commented to Bill (Desimone) that I am always amazed at All-Star games that players who don't even know each other are able to play so well together," Hendee said. "And I think it was nice closure for our girls. It was a great opportunity for them to get to play together one last time."

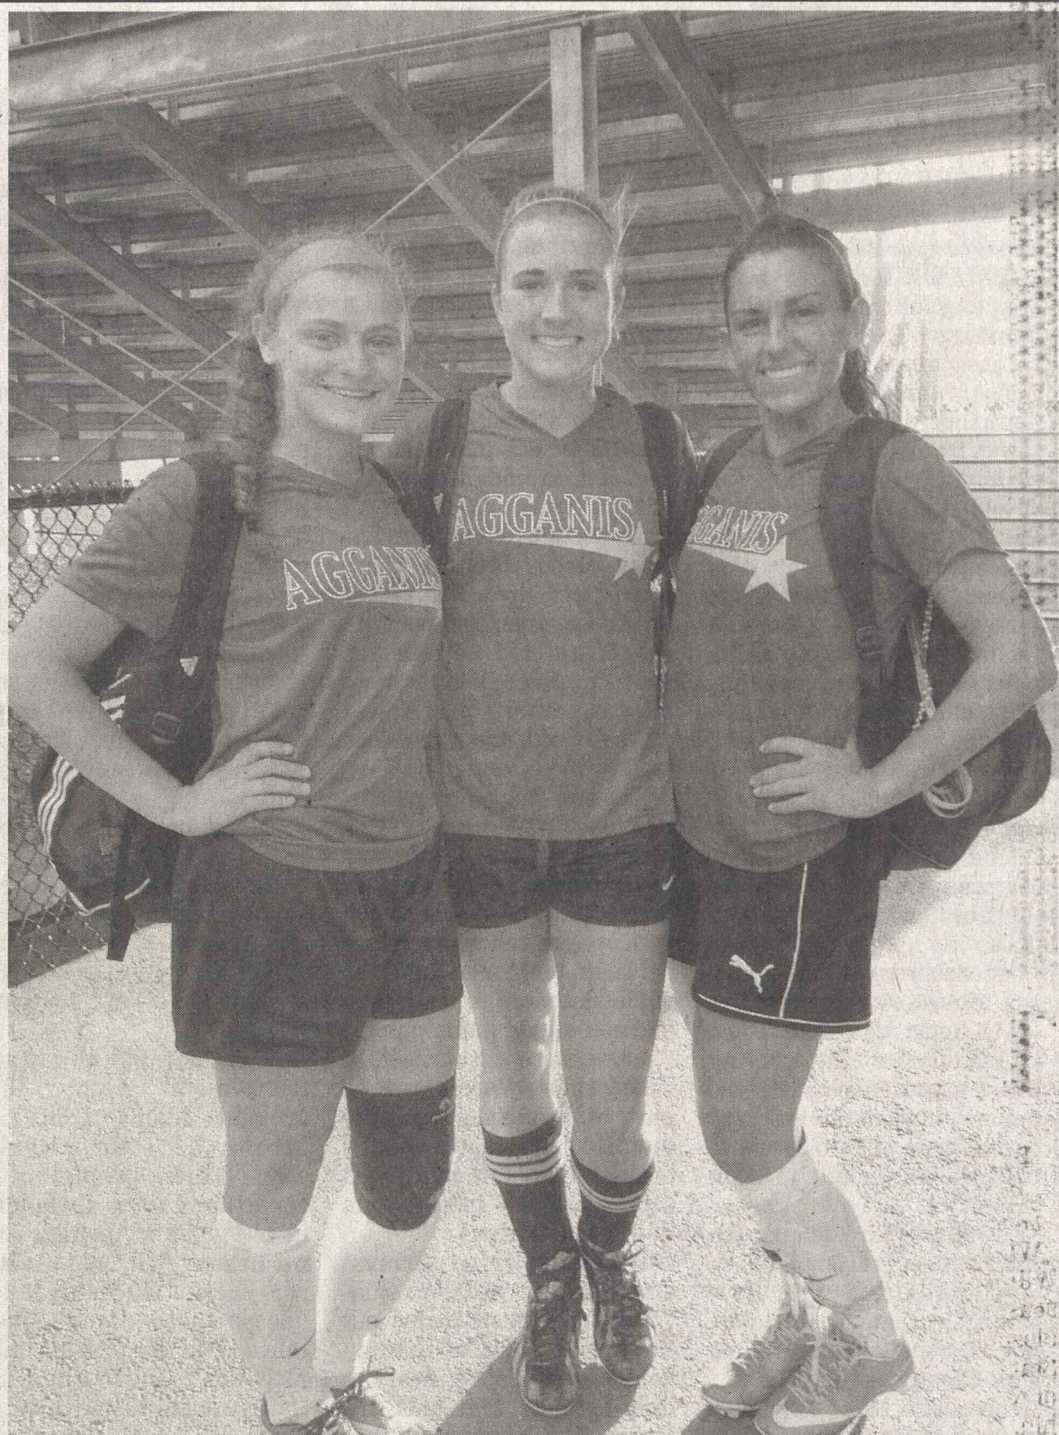

Not only did the former Wildcats teammates have the opportunity to play together, they also had the opportunity to mix in with an entirely new group of teammates was a new challenge that they handled very well, according to Hendee.

"I was very impressed," Hendee said. "It can be kind of hard for a coach when you don't know a lot of the girls and don't know what position they play, but I thought all of the girls, including ours, did a nice job adjusting to playing with teammates they were not used to playing with."

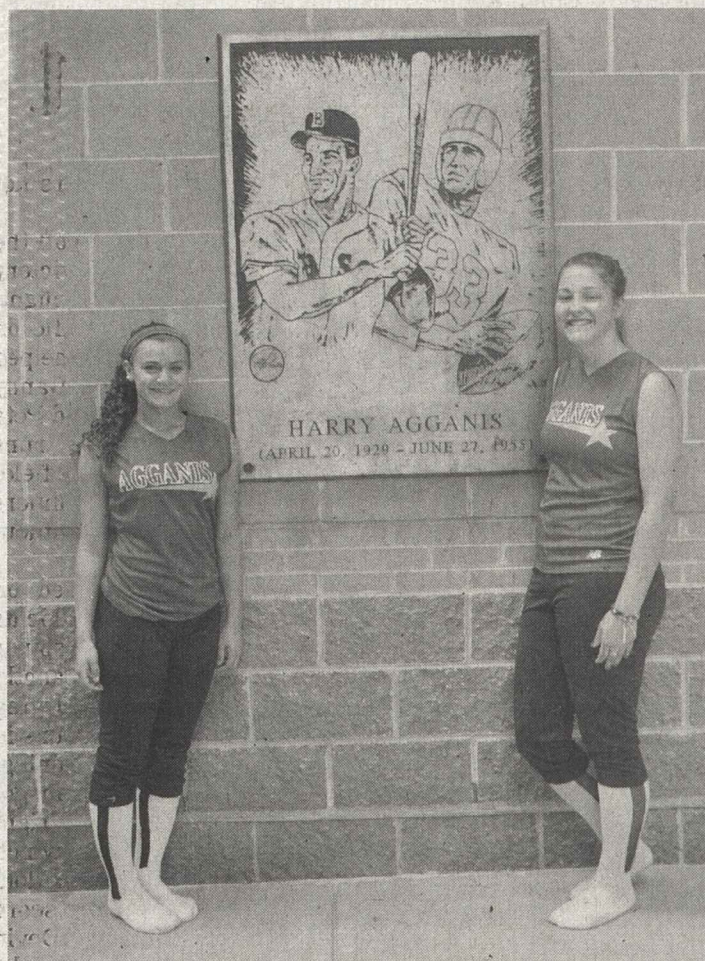

Hendee felt that Grasso, Bischoff and Curley were all well deserving of the honor of being selected to the Agganis Games for all they brought to the Wildcats this season, both with their soccer skills as well as their leadership.

"All three of them were All-Stars and they along with the rest of this senior class as a whole was phenomenal," Hendee said. "Beyond their impact on the field, I felt like their impact off the field was even better. I think they understood that part of their job was to keep the team together throughout the season."

Grasso and Curley will continue their soccer careers next season at the collegiate level when Grasso moves on to Curry College and Curley moves on to Salem State, while Bischoff will attend URI, her brilliant soccer career coming to an end with the Agganis Games.

Grasso and Curley will be joined on the college pitch by Wildcats teammates Adrianna Kippenberger (Plymouth State) and Ashleigh Howland (Endicott) and Hendee is confident that her former players will be successful at the next level.

"I think they will all do well," Hendee said. "They are hard working kids and I think they will be able to make the transition."

Other Games

Several other Wilmington athletes were also selected to the Agganis Games in different sports, including Boys Soccer, also held at Manning Field last Wednesday, where midfielder Drew Foley and defender Kory McGilvray helped lead the South (yes, the Wilmington boys played for the South) to a 2-2 tie against the North.

In other games, Grasso and Katherine McKenna joined the North Softball squad in dropping a 6-3 decision to the South.

Many Wilmington Youth Soccer teams enjoy Mass Cup Tournament

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com

TEWKSBURY- The Mass Cup tournament returned to Tewksbury to an enthusiastic response from players and coaches from Tewksbury, Wilmington, and towns from across the entire state of Massachusetts. Held across Saturday and Sunday, the Mass Cup saw dozens of team pour onto Frasca Field in home-made jerseys while sporting mohawks, face-paint and a huge variety of team chants. The tournament featured near 50 teams from around Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The Masscup tournament is designed to be a friendly tournament that features some great soccer and this one sure delivered both.

On Saturday, Tewksbury ran almost 60 games on our lower fields with the U8 and U10 divisions all playing three games each. On the upper fields another 25 games were held in the competitive U12 and U14 divisions.

Two Tewksbury teams, the Girls Under 14 Coached by Serg Sessa and The Boys Under 12 team coached by Lou Barinelli came home with championship titles.

The entire Mass Cup tournament was as successful as anyone could have hoped for, especially Wilmington Youth Soccer president John Fitzler and Sessa, who is also the Tewksbury Youth Soccer League President.

"There's a lot of kids who don't get the chance to end the season on a strong note," Fitzler said. "We encourage our coaches, so long as the kids are willing, to find another outlet to play. We want to give the kids a chance to get one last game in."

The Mass Cup was created with the intention of providing teams who did not make their division playoffs a more satisfying send-off then they might have gotten in the regular season. While last year's tournament was abandoned due to scheduling conflicts, attendance for this past year's cup boomed.

"They come from those far-away places because there just aren't any other places for those young players to go," Sessa said. "There was never a place for them to play at a young age, it was all reserved for the older kids."

The new tournament further encouraged newcomers with this year's acceptance of U8 teams. These younger teams took to the occasion with a vengeance, sprinting between tents and benches while slathered in ice cream and self-styled game paint.

Teams were encouraged to design their own uniforms as part of a tournament-wide team spirit award, which brought out numerous squads covered in elaborate tie-dyed uniforms.

"It's kind of a carnival atmosphere," Fitzler said. "There's a lot of teams out there and a lot of activity going on. It's a big deal, an exciting one. The kids are seeing all kinds of team that they don't know, and that gets them even more excited to play."

Also bolstering team enthusiasm during this year's Mass Cup was the creation of the Sportsmanship award, an individual award handed out to selected players after each game. Players were elected by votes from the opposing team to collect the award, shining a light on players who led the field with spirit and moral.

This was an especially important invention for Sessa, as it corresponded with one of the qualities which most sets soccer apart from other sports in his mind.

"You can be just a kid who can kick the ball, and you can play," Sessa explained. "You can learn skills, but so long as you can kick a ball and run you have the ability to play soccer."

For his part, Fitzler was glad to have found a local resource for players, younger and older, who still have a competitive spirit and drive even once the dust settles on the previous season.

Instead of concluding the year by watching playoff hopes shatter thanks to one goal or one misplaced kick, the Mass Cup gives youth soccer players a chance for a more joyful and complete release.

"Tewksbury put on a great tournament event that brought teams from all across the state," Fitzler said. "It gives the players an opportunity to do something in a jamboree format, and we haven't yet found a kid who doesn't like doing it."

Sessa was even more relieved to see the positive reception to the tournament. He is leaving his position as Youth Soccer Director at the end of this week, and it fills him with pride to see that the organization of which he was a long-standing participant, member, and leader is only continuing to grow and evolve as he prepares to leave.

"You can only have so many tournaments, but you have to keep the kids playing," Sessa said. "With growth comes more players, which means more and more kids are playing soc-

Three Under 8 teams star on the soccer fields

TEWKSBURY- For the first time in the tournament's history, the annual Mass Cup Tournament hosted Wilmington teams in competition with dozens of other players from across the state.

Throughout the weekend, young Wildcats packed onto Frasca Fields in Tewksbury to test their mettle against some of the finest teams across the state. Even in the non-competitive leagues, Wilmington players gave it their all in the last tournament before summer.

"They love playing soccer and this is a great opportunity to let them do that," said Robert Elliot, head coach of one of three Wilmington Boys U8 teams that crowded the tournament.

The Mass Cup Tournament was founded with the intention of providing soccer players who did not make the state tournaments or playoffs a more satisfying send off to close out their season.

For older teams, it is a chance to close out the spring on a more positive note than they might have, and for younger players the tournament offers the chance to attend a massive event with a carnival-atmosphere, while playing a great game and meeting players and coaches from across the state.

Besides several older teams playing, there were three Wilmington Boys teams in the BU8 division competing in the jamboree. Mass Youth Soccer does not recognize records, in this division.

"All three teams performed very well and all of the kids had a great time participating in the tournament," said Joe Maeilla, one of the head coaches for the Under 8 team.

A second Wildcat U8 squad was headed up by Mike Rosa, who relished the chance for both more play and the festive atmosphere which Tewksbury fostered.

"I think it's all about how much fun the kids are having," Rosa said. "They love the games, but they also love the between the games time when they get to eat and run around the tents. It's just a great day."

Rosa's Wildcats gave it their all throughout the tournament, even when they trailed three goals behind Bayside United in the second half of their final game. After a long day in the sun, it would have been easy for any team to relax and accept a loss. Not these Wildcats.

"Despite the afternoon heat, we began to rally," Rosa said. "The team adopted the hustle being exhibited by Ryan Murphy and scored three unanswered goals to tie the game."

The members of the three Under 8 teams include:

Team 1: Zachary Blonigen, Julien Cella, Ryan Copson, Remy Elliott, Christian Febbo, Evan Johnson, Daniel Lagunilla, Layne Miller and Antonio Smolinsky;

Team 2: Brian Banks, Matthew Doherty, Jonathan Forseyth, Patrick Hounsell, Ethan Kennedy, Andrew Maeilla, Michael McCarthy, Patrick Tassone and Braeden White;

Team 3: Nicholas Damico, Benjamin Marvin, Jack McLaughlin, Liam Milne, Ryan Murphy, Sean O'Donoghue, Charlie Rosa, Hunter Sands and Ryan Sweeney.

The weekend heat was often oppressive, but the players never flagged in their enthusiasm and drive to end the season on the strongest possible note. The pounding sun only made the efforts of the players even more impressive to the coaches and family members watching on the sidelines.

"I felt all the girls played exceptionally well considering they played three games on a hot day," Eric Fortier said.

Heading up a team of U10 Girls cobbled together from three separate youth soccer teams, the unfaltering teamwork on display was a great reminder of what young players can accomplish together.

Fortier singled out Maura Fiorenza, Alyssa Granara, and Kari Wells as having particularly stand-out games over the course of the weekend.

Rising Star Basketball Camp, July 21-25

The Rising Star Basketball School has scheduled a one week session at Melrose Sr/Jr High School for July 21-25, 2014.

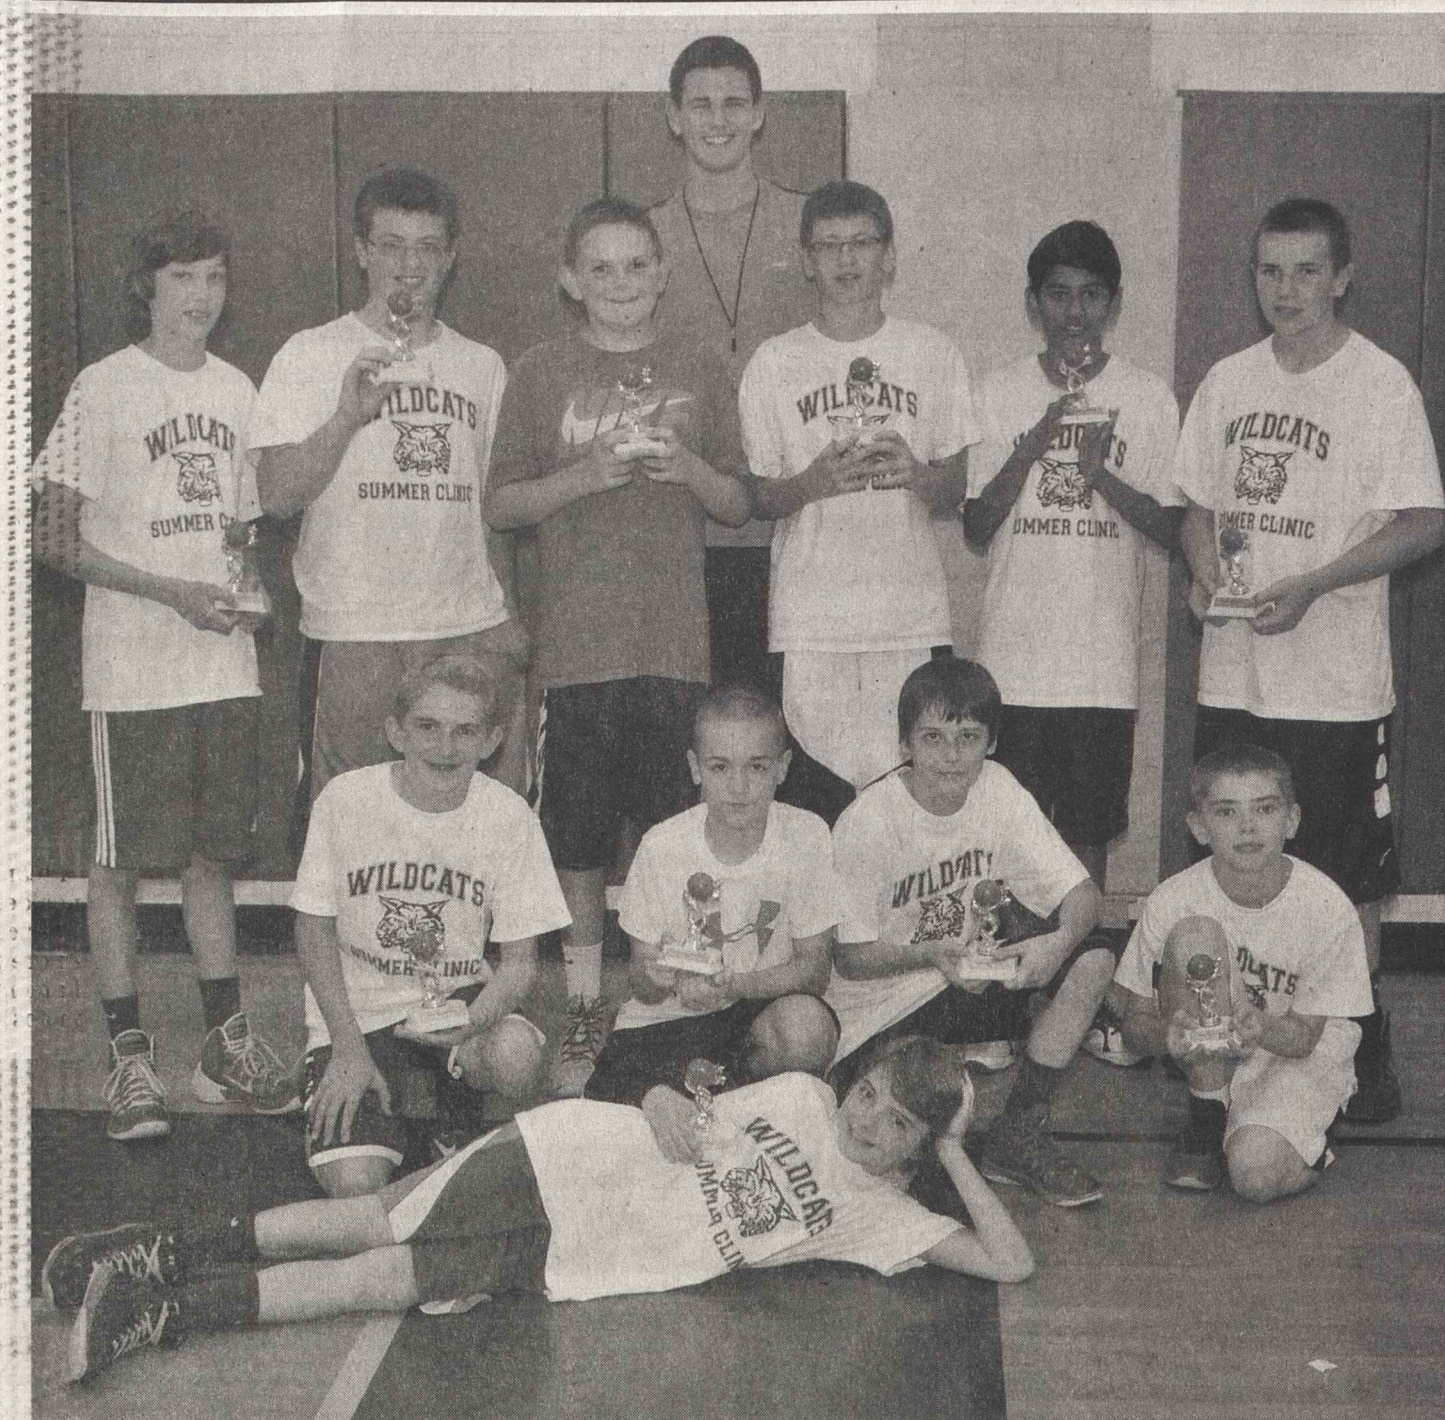

Recognized as Greater Boston's finest teaching camp, Rising Star attracts outstanding area coaches who provide quality instruction and a competitive atmosphere.

The camp is open to players ages 9-18 who are divided into divisions by age. The camp runs daily from 8:30-3:30.

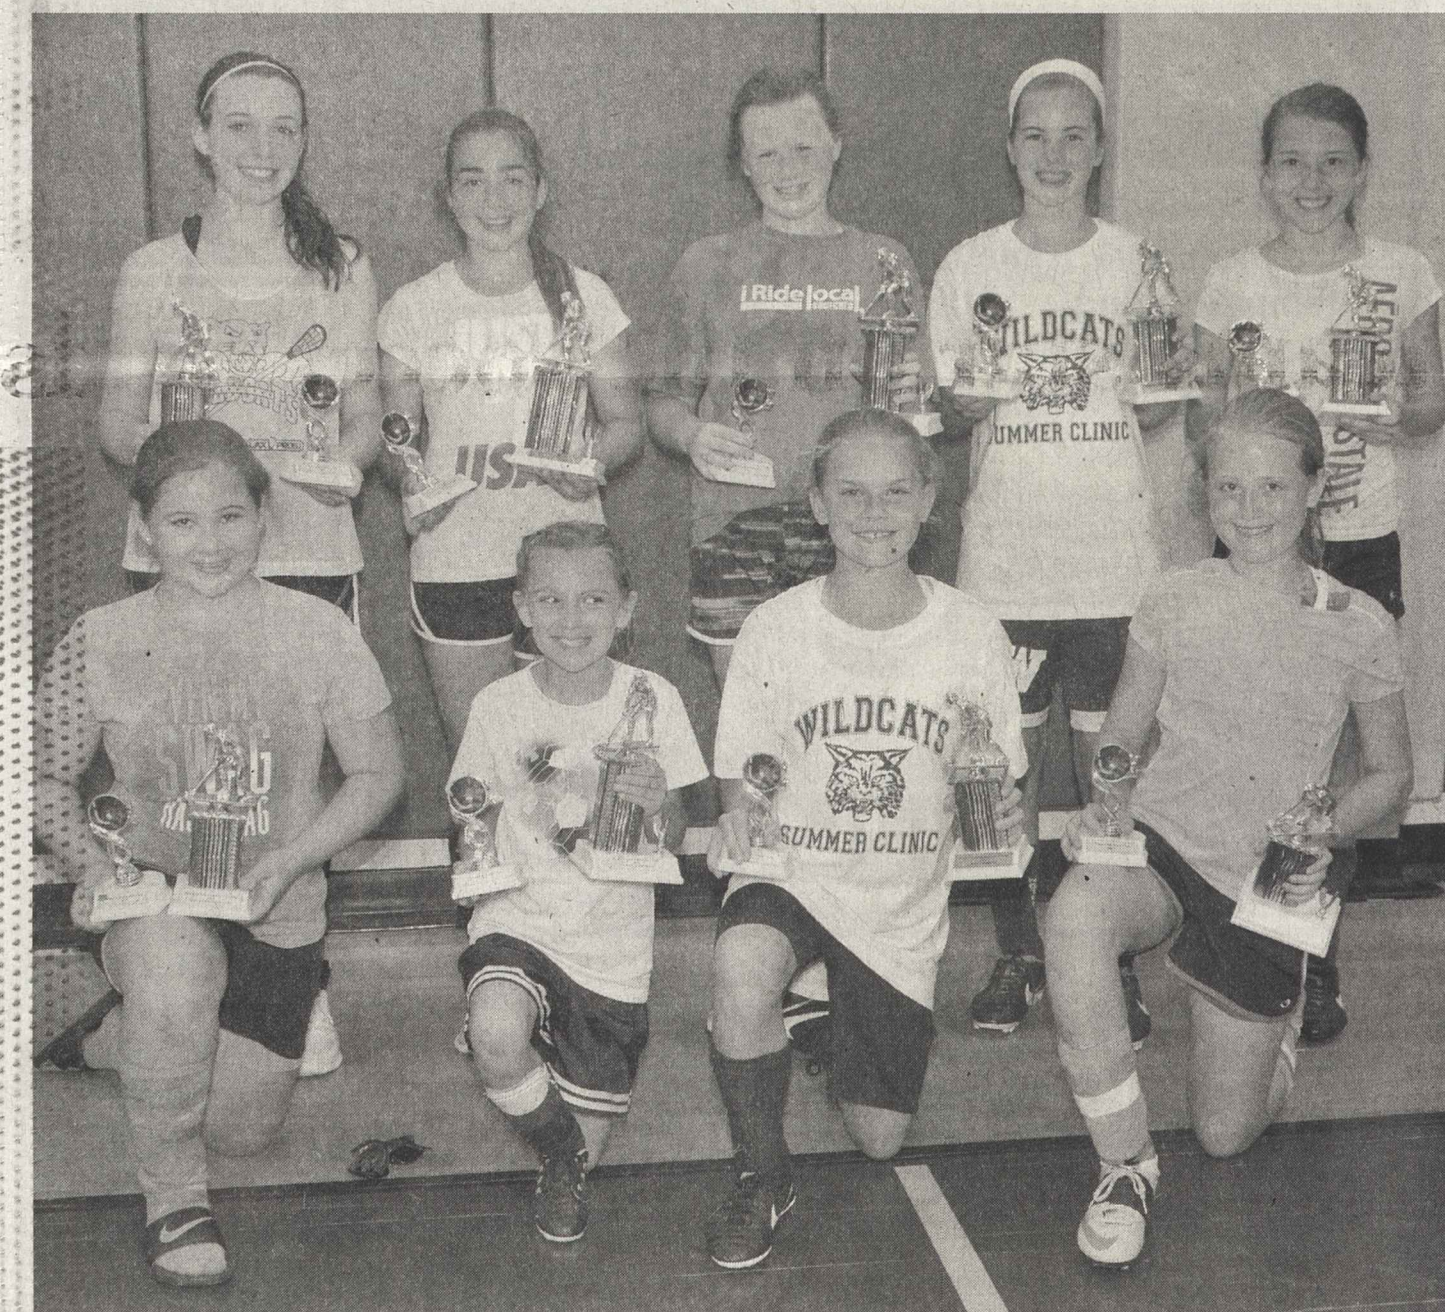

The camp is directed by Kevin O'Brien, former head coach at Brandeis. His 18 years of college coaching experience also include stops at Harvard, Boston University and Stonehill. He is assisted by top area head coaches including Mike Kasprzak, Melrose High, Brian Ciara, Stoneham High, Jody Norton, North Shore Tech and Dave Clay, Triton Regional. Low coach to player ratio and individual attention are a hallmark for Rising Star. Teaching and individual improvement are stressed each day.

"From our inception, our goal has been to put kids in a learning environment that values teaching, hard work and improvement," said O'Brien. "We reach out to the great high school players as well as the younger kids new to the game. The success of our camp is the quality of the coaches we have on staff and the high level of teaching that goes on. The tremendous feedback we have received reflects our goal of providing an exceptional experience for each camper who attends."

Redmen Youth Football Camp a win-win situation for all

By RICK COOKE
Sports Correspondent

rcooke1717@yahoo.com

TEWKSBURY -- For the past 21 years, hundreds of Tewksbury third through eighth graders put away their bats and baseballs long enough over four days in June to prepare for potential high school football careers as Tewksbury High School Redmen. TMHS' football coach Brian Aylward again directed the annual camp that leaves the coaching to his players, and by the looks of things, it's a win-win situation for everyone involved.

The repetitive drills and some flag football games mean a lot to these youngsters, especially when it's being led by members of the undefeated TMHS Football State Championship team. The four days of TMHS football camp indoctrination offers a big step in the right direction for the future of the program.

"This is important for our program to get our guys to step up and be leaders," offered Aylward before a lunch break last week. "The 28 varsity players that we have working in camp have to take ownership of a team of six or seven kids. They coach them in the (flag) games and the drills. Then they sit and talk, and they learn that these kids hang on to every word they have to say- and that their words are important."

"All but one of these high school kids that are here went through this camp. I hear the kids in the 7th and 8th grade divisions saying that they can't wait until they are coaching at this camp. We don't recruit outside of town like other high schools," Aylward noted. "We are going to play our games with kids that we have right here in Tewksbury."

"This is an extension of the Tewksbury tradition that's taught right here. This helps to prepare these kids for youth football. I've had coaches from that program tell me that they could always tell which kids went to the Redmen clinic. The techniques that we teach them are all building to the techniques they use when they get to the high school."

Before anyone thinks that this summer football camp is just a bunch of boring drills and position breakdowns- think again. These kids get right to the heart of what makes a winning football team. They all learn to listen, line up and do each drill properly through repetition. Every player should know what every position on the field does on each play. These youngsters become good football students. They understand concepts of the game- and that allows Tewksbury not only to out-think, but to out-prepare opponents.

This all leads to victories and a record breaking season, culminating with a championship. Senior defensive-offensive tackle Ethan Eloi will be a captain this upcoming season, and he traces much of his championship pedigree right back to his time spent at this camp both as a counselor over the past two years and his summers as a young camper.

"I mainly like coming here to help out with the kids," says Eloi during a break in coaching his 7th and 8th grade group. "I love coming down here. Next year I'm going to miss coming here." That much is obvious, given the fact that young Mr. Eloi began his football camping career as a third grader and came every year that he could right up until the 8th grade.

"I figured out that I really loved football and that I really needed it in my life. Some of the drills that I learned at this camp helped me with my techniques and footwork," he said. "If they start young, by the time they get to my position (in high school) their footwork is going to be better than mine. This camp also shows the kids that they need to be active. You don't want to be sitting inside your house playing video games on a day like this."

A "day like this" at the Livingston Street football practice fields featured temperatures just under 90 degrees, and the sweat was running down the forehead of 13-year-old Zach Weitz. The youth football center was having a blast running around chucking the football, playing quarterback in one of the flag football games before lunch.

Zach's older brothers Sam (2010) and John (2014) both played football at TMHS, and it won't be long before the youngest Weitz will be lining up for the high school football Redmen. "The hard work in the summer pays off," he says. "It will make everything count. I've learned that anything is possible if you work hard."

Even a grizzled veteran like TMHS' offensive line coach Paul Norton sees the results on this scorcher of a summer day. Norton has been coaching football at the high school for 33 years, and if there is a jaded bone in his body, it's not showing today. The young players are enough to rejuvenate any coach, making him ready to pick up just where he left off.

"The kids keep you coming back, especially when you go 13-0," says Norton. "Those seasons are magical. It's not only that the kids want to play and win, but they want to put the time in and do the work that it takes to win. It really is a two-way street. The varsity players get so much out of this. We empower them to be leaders and they want to show the coaches how far they've come."

This summer program- and TMHS football -has come a long way. That journey is made all the more memorable by the fact that some football veterans are not only teaching some youngsters the game, but getting so much back in return.

Shawsheen Tech seeking Athletic Hall of Fame nominations

The Shawsheen Tech Alumni Athletic Hall of Fame Committee has announced that this years induction will be held on November 8, 2014 at the Montvale Plaza. Nomination deadline is July 15th.

This is its first Athletic-only Hall of Fame honoring athletes, as well as coaches and/or administrators who had distinguished themselves in their respective sports. The selection process is based on the rule that the candidates for induction be evaluated on what they did in sports while at Shawsheen Tech exclusively.

If you know of a deserving athlete, please request criteria and nomination forms at svthsa@gmail.com.

Tewksbury Under 14 Girls soccer team takes title

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com
TEWKSBURY- After two days of almost non-stop competition, the Tewksbury Lady Redmen have emerged as the champions in the Girls U14 division of the annual Mass Cup soccer tournament.

Battling teams formed from across the state and from within Tewksbury, the Lady Redmen managed to fight their way to Sunday's championship game where they triumphed over the Northbridge Cookie Monsters, 2-0.

Head coach and Tewksbury Youth Soccer League President Serg Sessa knew that, name notwithstanding, Northbridge was an excellent team against which the Lady Redmen would need to bring all their strength and resilience.

"Northbridge is a good team with a strong goalkeeper," he said.

Fortunately, the Lady Redmen were more than up to the challenge, bringing their all for Sunday's game to close out both the tournament and their season on the best possible note.

"Tewksbury came to play today," Sessa said. "The girls really worked to get some shots off in this game and they got some really good quality shots."

Even with strong offensive and defensive game, the entire first half of the game saw the girls locked in a stalemate with Northbridge. Both teams kept firing the ball towards the goal, only to see their efforts stymied.

The stalemate finally broke early in the second half when Hayley Mignon managed to chip the ball past Northbridge's goaltender and put the Lady Redmen in the lead.

Northbridge did not take this lying down, and much of the second half was spent in the Tewksbury zone with Northbridge assailing the Redmen defenses. Tewksbury did not give them an inch, and with seconds to spare in the game Maggie

Penta summoned a colossal kick to bury the ball deep into the Northbridge net to secure the victory for the home team.

The victory was a true team effort, as every girl on the team chipped in to keep the ball moving and cycling across the field and out of Northbridge possession.

"They passed the ball a bit better today, which is something we really stressed as coaches," Sessa said. "In this game, if you're not getting those 50-50 balls, you're not going to get those opportunities."

The Lady Redmen have had a long time to learn each other's strength and weaknesses as they worked together during the regular season and various tournaments, not to mention a run at the Commissioner's Cup which ended in the semi-finals last week. Chemistry as obviously in abundance between the ladies, as they moved the ball efficiently across and around the field.

Along with the well-oiled machine of the main team, the Lady Redmen were supported by a group of players called up for the tournament. Meghan Cabral, Julia Strickler, Becca Smith, Sophia Dematos, and Isabella Beylone proved to be invaluable additions to the team during the Mass Cup.

"This team is strong," Sessa said. "We were glad to play in a home grown tournament. We always try and play in the home grown tournaments."

Despite the long arduous days beneath the striking summer sun, the Lady Redmen were able to end their season on as high a note as possible. They faced a strong competitor and proved that with smart play and strong teamwork, there was nothing they could not master.

Sessa, who will be retiring from his position as League President at the end of the week, could not have been happier with the outcome.

"It was a great way to go out," he said.

Tewksbury's Summer Baseball camp returns for 21st year

The 21st annual Tewksbury Baseball School's Summer Camp will be held at the Livingston Street Fields at the Pavilion from July 21-24th from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. This camp is for children ages 6-14 years old and the cost is $120.00 per week with a $10 sibling discount.

The camp will once again be run by Tewksbury Memorial High School Varsity Baseball Coach Ron Drouin and his staff, which consist of other coaches, teachers and players from a variety of schools and programs. Over the last 20 summers, the program has seen over 3,000 young players attend the camp and many have gone on to become highly successful high school and college baseball players.

In order to deal with potential rain, this year's camp has gone to a four-day format, from Monday to Thursday, leaving Friday in case of a rainout. Due to the increasing enrollment, the camp has shifted to the Livingston Street Athletic Complex, which will allow better service for all campers including more diamonds for games, as well as indoor facilities in case of inclement weather. The camp will include the following: hitting, throwing, fielding, base running, position play, stretching routine, strength training, pre-practice, practice routine and sliding.

Each camper should bring: glove, bat (if possible), lunch, snack, shorts, a towel, a willingness to learn and a great attitude.

To receive a registration form for the camp, to sign up for the camp or questions, please contact Ron Drouin at: 978-685-7008 or send email to: rdrouinjr@yahoo.com.

There will also be the annual "Itty Bitty Baseball Camp" which is a very basic beginning baseball and fun camp. It is a half-day program offered from 9-11:30 am for children ages 4-5. Campers in this session should bring a snack and a drink. Cost is $70.00 per child.

You may make checks out to: Tewksbury Baseball School and mail it to: 35 Emsley Terrace, Methuen, Mass., 01844.

Each participant in either camp also receives a t-shirt. You will have to specify size, either youth medium or large or adult small, medium, large or extra large.

Ryan Pitts to receive Medal of Honor

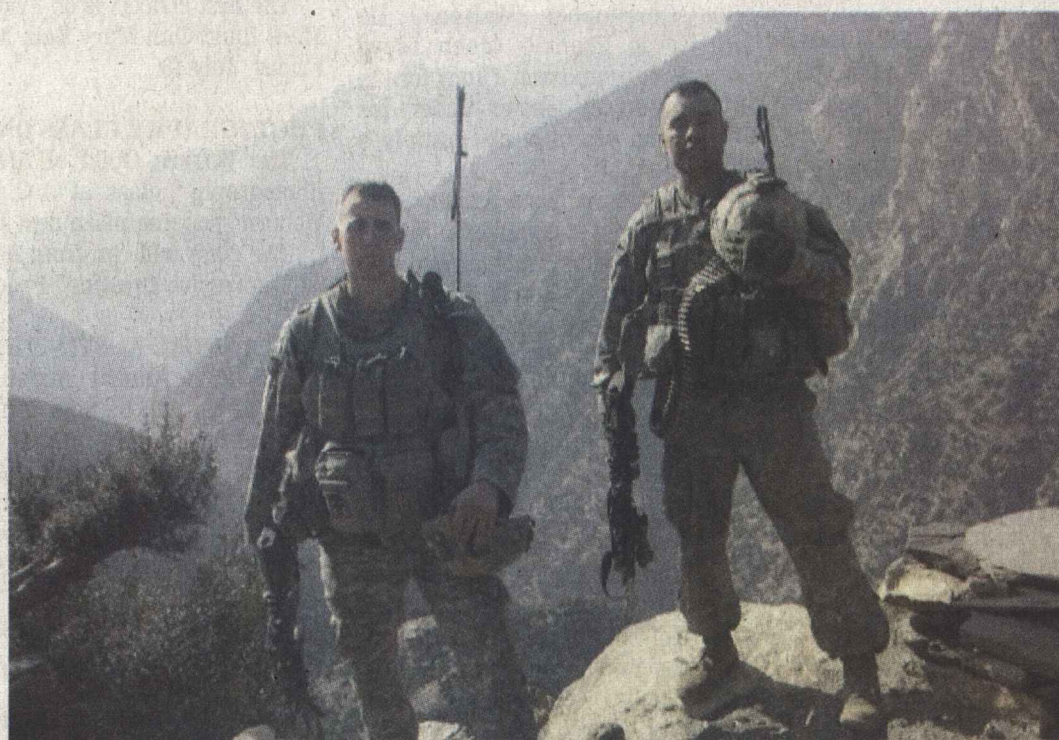

Works for Oracle in Burlington

By PAUL FEELY

This month, a New Hampshire man, employed in the Middlesex East readership area, who was seriously injured six years ago in Afghanistan will be awarded the Medal of Honor by President Barack Obama.

Ryan M. Pitts, a former active-duty Army Staff Sergeant who now works at Oracle Corp. in Burlington, Mass. as a business development consultant, will receive the nation's highest military award for conspicuous gallantry for his courageous actions while serving during combat operations at Vehicle Patrol Base Kahler on July 13, 2008.

Pitts will be the ninth living recipient to be awarded the Medal of Honor for actions in Iraq or Afghanistan, according to a news release from the White House Office of the Press Secretary.

"He and his family will join the President at the White House to commemorate his example of selfless service," the release states, noting the award ceremony will take place on July 21.

Pitts is employed as part of Oracle Direct as a Business Development Consultant, where he is focused on supporting Field Sales Reps through customer engagement.

"Today we recognize the distinguished service and outstanding integrity of former Staff Sergeant Ryan Pitts as he receives our nation's highest military honor," said Oracle President Mark Hurd. "He has demonstrated leadership, dedication and a commitment to excellence and we are proud to have him as an Oracle employee."

Pitts, a 2003 graduate of Souhegan High School in Amherst, NH, was a member of the 173rd, 2-503 Airborne in eastern Afghanistan's Kunar province when he was seriously injured in the Battle of Wanat.

Staff Sergeant Pitts separated from the service on October 27, 2009 from Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Staff Sergeant Pitts enlisted in the Army in August 2003 as a Fire Support Specialist (13F), primarily responsible for the intelligence activities of the Army's field artillery team. After completion of training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and follow-on parachutist training at the U.S. Army Airborne School, Fort Benning, Georgia, he was assigned to Camp Ederle, Vicenza, Italy, as a radio operator with the 4th Battalion, 319th Field Artillery Regiment and 173rd Airborne Brigade where he deployed to Afghanistan. His final assignment was with the 2nd Battalion (Airborne), 503rd Infantry Regiment "The Rock", 173rd Airborne Brigade as a Forward Observer which included a second combat tour to Afghanistan.

At the time of the July 13, 2008 combat engagement, then-Sergeant Pitts was a Forward Observer in 2nd Platoon, Chosen Company, 2nd Battalion (Airborne), 503rd Infantry Regiment 173rd Airborne Brigade as part of Task Force Rock. His heroic actions were performed at Vehicle Patrol Base Kahler, in the vicinity of Wanat Village in Kunar Province, Afghanistan.

Staff Sergeant Pitts will receive the Medal of Honor for his courageous actions while serving as a Forward Observer with 2nd Platoon, Chosen Company, 2nd Battalion (Airborne), 503rd Infantry Regiment, 173rd Airborne Brigade, during combat operations at Vehicle Patrol Base Kahler, in the vicinity of Wanat Village in Kunar Province, Afghanistan on July 13, 2008.

Nine American soldiers died.

More than 25 others, including Pitts, were seriously injured when they were forced to defend themselves against gunfire and rocket-propelled grenades launched by 200 Taliban insurgents.

According to a report in The Boston Globe, Pitts sustained shrapnel in his arms, legs and chest, but was able to delay the enemy long enough for help to arrive.

He whispered reports over the radio about insurgent positions, and provided instructions for helicopter gunships to engage the enemy to the north.

"Transformers: Age of Extinction"

by Paul Feely

"TRANSFORMERS: AGE OF EXTINCTION" stars Mark Wahlberg. It is the fourth in the series and it features director Michael Bay's trademark long, drawn-out battle scenes. There may yet be a 5th sequel on tap.

"TRANSFORMERS: AGE OF EXTINCTION"
GRADE: **

Michael Bay, the director of the first three films in this "Transformers" franchise, was initially reluctant to do a fourth picture. But co-executive producer Steven Spielberg wanted him back, and when Spielberg wants something he gets it. The result is "Transformers: Age of Extinction", which features Bay's trademark long, drawn-out battle scenes and multitude of explosions.

Mark Wahlberg (Cade Yeager), Stanley Tucci (Joshua Joyce) and Kelsey Grammer (Harold Attinger) are new cast members, and while these three veterans are adequate, overall the acting is suspect. Nicola Peltz, as Yeager's daughter Tessa, is not very convincing despite her frequent death-defying experiences, and her boyfriend Shane Dyson (Jack Reynor) is bland, at best.

But people don't see these films for the acting. It's all about the bots - Autobots and Dinobots, Megatron and Optimus Prime.

Where is Optimus Prime? The answer lies in Yeager's grungy barn where the robotic inventor is tinkering with a dilapidated truck he purchased earlier.

Yeager needs money to keep his home and send Tessa to college. He is overly protective of his 17-year-old daughter, endlessly warning Shane to keep his hands off of her. This is cliched writing, at best, but fans of the series overlook such things as long as the special effects are good. And they are.

The time is now, four years after the invasion of Chicago left some of its great architecture in shambles. The movie features some great shots of the Windy City, cleverly interweaving the famed skyline with Autobot/Dinobot battle scenes. This includes a sequence with Yeager, Tessa and Shane high above the ground negotiating a "suspension bridge" of cables between buildings.

Government officials, led by Attinger, want the Autobots destroyed, but Joyce's company, KSI, has developed a material dubbed Transformium, which allows KSI to transform anything into anything else, rendering the Autobots obsolete. Some of the more unique special effects are accomplished with this material.

Like its predecessors, "Transformers: Age of Extinction" is loud, louder, LOUDEST. And despite all its violent activity, the film maintained a PG-13 rating, even though Tucci's character gets away with a swear, one of the funniest lines in the movie. Thankfully, Tucci provides a ton of comic relief to an otherwise serious story, although actor/comedian T. J. Miller, as Yeager's buddy, Lucas Flannery, tries to create laughs early on, despite some flat writing.

Bay's penchant for overly long battle scenes is the biggest reason the running time is a hefty 165 minutes.

"Transformers: Age of Extinction" features an ending with a strong hint that the franchise is not quite finished. There may yet be a fifth "Transformers" in the works.

"JERSEY BOYS"
GRADE: **

"Jersey Boys," Clint Eastwood's adaptation of the hit Broadway musical, could have used some of its director's trademark toughness.

Not that Eastwood doesn't have a sensitive side when it comes to making movies, as "The Bridges of Madison County" illustrates. And it isn't as if he was trying to make "Goodfellas" set to music.

But it would have been nice if he had delved into a little more of the unsavory aspects of the story of Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, instead of just hinting at them. (See "Bird," Eastwood's film about troubled jazz great Charlie Parker.) This is not a major complaint - "Jersey Boys" is a good movie, and the performances are first-rate.

But Eastwood should have roughed things up a little more, like some of the colorful characters in the New Jersey neighborhood where Valli grew up might have. Instead he settles for telling the tale in the most straightforward of fashions.

The film, like the stage production, involves each of the four band members turning toward the camera and talking, telling us their perspective on the rise and fall of one of the most popular bands of the early 1960s.

Stick with Tommy's. It's the most interesting.

Tommy DeVito (Vincent Piazza) tells us flat out, if you want to know the real story, you've got to talk to him. Of course, he does. He grows up as a hood, running errands for local mobster Gyp DeCarlo (Christopher Walken). He takes Frankie (John Lloyd Young, who won a Tony for the Broadway show) under his wing, which is not entirely a good thing.

Tommy has a band, and he recognizes Frankie's talents as a singer. But Tommy is also headed for trouble in a hurry and ropes Frankie in on some of his schemes.

But that voice. That's what saves Frankie. At least we presume so; Eastwood doesn't spell it out clearly. Frankie just kind of turns good.

It's pretty standard stuff from there. They struggle to get signed, they can't find the right material, things don't go their way ... and then they do. They're helped by producer and lyricist Bob Crewe (Mike Doyle), who has the contacts they crave, and the New York apartment they can only dream of.

Meet at the Bellevue Pond parking lot. (Location changes weekly) Heavy rain cancels.

THE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION OF VIRGINIA WOODS

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

"NO EXCEPTIONS" (STONEHAM)

As of this month, a new trash policy is in effect for Stoneham.

"Recycling will now be EVERY WEEK and it will be single stream and unlimited," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Single stream means that all your recyclables can be mixed together and put in the same container. Standard size barrels can be used and recycling labels for them are available at the Department of Public Works and Town Hall at no charge. Recycling will be MANDATORY. If you do not put out recycling every week, your trash will not be picked up. NO EXCEPTIONS."

"Trash will now be limited to 90 gallons per residential unit per week. Most standard trash barrels and green plastic bags hold 30 gallons. For those occasions when 90 gallons is not sufficient for your trash needs, 'overflow' bags will be available. The 30 gallon bags will cost $2.00 per bag and will be available in the Treasurer's Office in Town Hall. These bags will soon be available in retail stores in Stoneham. No filled barrel can exceed 50 pounds in

Sunday, July 13 and 20 10:00 - 11:15am

The Virginia Woods area of the Fells has seen and incredible progression of technology from Native American hand tools to grist, saw, and snuff mills, to the rubber mill town known as Haywardville. A walk with frequent stops at historic sites. Adults and older children. Heavy rain cancels. Meet at the Pond Street parking area.

SPOT POND KAYAK TOUR

Thursday, July 24, 10:00am-12:00pm

Join our park interpreter and a ranger on a guided paddle around Spot Pond exploring historical uses of the pond such as ice harvesting, agriculture, and its current status as a reservoir. Kayaks are free of charge for this program. Pre-registration required as space is limited: (978) 937-2092 x 121. Some boating experience required, must be at least 18 to participate.

weight. No loose trash is allowed. All trash must be placed into a trash barrel or trash bag. Trash bag must be tied.

"A single bulk item per week, in addition to your bags and barrels, can be put out for pick up at no cost as long as it weighs less than 50 pounds. For pickup of bulk items weighing more than 50 pounds a fee will be charged. See the Town website at www.stoneham.ma.gov for further information."

"Dumpsters will be added to the Stevens Street Recycling Center for cardboard and rigid plastics, i.e. - children's toys, plastic lawn furniture, etc. Check the website for hours of operation. Stevens Street Recycling Sticker required."

"An organic recycling program will be introduced in the school cafeteria systems and Senior Center. In addition, a hazardous waste day will be held at Stoneham High School on September 27, 2014, please see the Town website for further details."

"The purpose of the new trash policy is to better serve the public, contain the cost of the trash/recycling programs, and comply with existing trash laws. The Town will be using Hiltz Contracting, the same company the Town has had for the last 12 years. The Town will evaluate the program and make changes if necessary at the end of each contract year..."

Visit the town website at www.stoneham.ma.gov for more info.

PHASING IN (BURLINGTON)

"After deciding to put Phase III of the project on hold and include a peer review of its traffic study in the process, National Development received unanimous approval from the Planning Board regarding the first two phases of its plan to reconfigure New England Executive Park (NEEP) on Burlington Mall Road by adding amenities, office buildings, and improving pedestrian traffic flow," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Plans call for a 170-room hotel, three restaurants, and two new office buildings on the site. The 330,000-square-foot project has been brought forth so the suburban office park can remain first class and properly fit into Burlington's rapidly growing commercial sector."

"National Development acquired the 1 million-square-foot office park last year for $216M. The previous owner, Equity Office Properties, laid the groundwork for non-office uses in 2009 when it sponsored a zoning amendment that allows restaurants, retail, hotels, and parking garages."

"This modernization of NEEP is already in effect as Tavern in the Square has since opened and is thriving, and Tuscan Kitchen is under construction. The proposed 330,000-square-foot increase in the park is 'well below' the 750,000-square-foot that was authorized under the Planned Development District (PDD) in terms of additional square footage ...

"Per the request of National Development, the planners unanimously voted to continue the Phase III portion of the three special permits submitted to its next meeting on August 7..."

FALLING AHEAD (TEWKSBURY)

"A carnival planned to help fund fireworks in Tewksbury won't run after all," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"And neither will the fireworks."

"Unfortunately we were not able to secure enough donations for both the Memorial Day Parade and the fireworks," said Pat Holland, the chair of the Friends of the Patriotic Activities Committee. "As you are aware we were able to have the parade but due to funding issues we had to reduce the size of the parade. We are in the process of coming up with some fundraising ideas for next year's events and hopefully we will be able to obtain enough donations to fund both of these community activities..."

"...the Events Committee is looking ahead toward the fall events, such as the Harvest Fair planned for September..."

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Bob Gibson is not the only Cy Young Award winning MLB Hall of Fame pitcher who played basketball for the Harlem Globetrotters. Who is the other one?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Stonehill College has announced its Athletic Director's Honor Roll for the Spring 2014 semester.

A total of 199 student-athletes representing each of Stonehill's 20 intercollegiate athletic programs were recognized for earning a semester grade point average of 3.20 or better. Five student-athletes posted a perfect 4.0 GPA, four of which were in-season with their respective athletic programs.

Sophomore thrower Trisha Pierson (East Hanover, New Jersey/Hanover Park) from the women's track & field team earned a 4.0 for the second consecutive semester, while teammate Sarah Biggers (Cortlandt Manor, New York/Lakeland), senior captain Catie Kelly (Medfield, Massachusetts/Medfield) from the women's soccer team, as well as sophomores Megan Ruonavaara (Rocky Hill, Connecticut/Rocky Hill) from the softball team and Rachel Fox (Smithfield, Rhode Island/Smithfield) from the equestrian team also posted perfect GPAs.

Pierson helped Stonehill capture its first Northeast-10 Conference Outdoor Track & Field Championship in early May with her first-place finish in the discus throw, while Biggers was a member of NE-10 Championship teams in women's cross country, as well as indoor and outdoor track & field during her senior year. Ruonavaara earned Capital One Academic All-District I first team and NE-10 All-Conference first team honors after leading Stonehill offensively with a .342 batting average, seven home runs, and 29 RBI this season.

Also highlighting the Honor Roll selections are senior Zack Soulier (Milford, Connecticut/Jonathan Law) from the baseball team, SOPHOMORE EMMA ZAMIEROWSKI (WINCHESTER, MASSACHUSETTS/WINCHESTER) from the equestrian team, senior and junior All-Americans Xavier Dixon (New Bedford, Massachusetts/New Bedford) and Maria Curit (Biddeford, Maine/Biddeford) from the men's and women's track & field programs, and junior Jared Drzal (West Sayville, N.Y./Sayville) from the men's tennis team.

Zamierowski earned the fourth national championship in Stonehill equestrian history this past spring, when she won the individual walk-trot equitation blue ribbon at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) National Championships in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania in early May. Drzal helped lead the Skyhawks to the fifth seed in the NE-10 Tournament, and he was recognized by the league with All-Conference third team honors for both No. 6 singles and No. 3 doubles.

With 20 intercollegiate sports, Stonehill boasts one of the top athletic and academic programs in the country. The Skyhawks have finished in the top three in the final NE-10 Presidents' Cup standings ten straight years, including a second place finish in 2013-14, winning the Cup four times, including a streak of three-straight from 2009-10 through 2011-12. This prestigious award is given to the top performing athletic school in the Northeast-10, across all sports and seasons.

Stonehill has received the NCAA Division II Presidents' Award for Academic Achievement each of the first three years of the program's existence of honoring programs with an Academic Success Rate (ASR) of 90-percent or better. The Skyhawks have earned a 97% Academic Success Ranking (ASR) by the NCAA, which considers the academic success rate of the institution based on the graduation rate of student-athletes, good for fifth among all NCAA Division II institutions, with ten Skyhawk teams receiving a perfect rating of 100%. In addition, the Skyhawks are ranked sixth in the National Collegiate Scouting Association (NCSA) Power Rankings used to assess the academic and athletic standards of all NCAA, and NAIA athletic programs. Stonehill has also been selected the host site for the 2016 NCAA Division II Field Hockey Championships at W.B. Mason Stadium.

BRYANA HARRON, a sophomore center of The Womens Ice Hockey Team at Franklin Pierce University was awarded "The Coaches" award for her valuable contribution to the team on and off the ice. She scored the first game winning goal and scored the first penalty shot in the history of the program. The 2013-2014 program ended with an impressive 18-4-2 record.

Medal From S-1

ference at the National Guard Headquarters in Concord by reading the names of the nine members of his platoon, who died in the attack.

"While it is an honor to have been nominated for the award, it is not mine alone," he said. "The honor belongs to every man who fought at Vehicle Patrol Base Kahler, especially to those who made the ultimate sacrifice that allowed the rest of us to return home. I have an absolute responsibility to tell our story, because there are nine men who cannot and it is their names you should know."

They are Sergio Abad, Jonathan Ayers, Jason Bogar, Jonathan Brostrom, Israel Garcia, Jason Hovater, Matthew Phillips, Pruitt Rainey and Gunnar Zwilling.

"I take comfort somehow in the pain of that loss, because it reminds me that they meant something to me and I never want to forget that and I appreciate the sacrifice they made for us," he said.

Pitts recalled the moment Garcia died.

"There wasn't really anything we could do for him other than for me to give him the guarantee that I would come home and tell his wife and mother that he loved them and that he was thinking of them in his last moments," he said.

Pitts said he wasn't happy about when he first learned his actions were being reviewed.

"I never felt that I deserved it but since then, I've accepted the fact that this isn't mine," he said. "It belongs to everybody who was there that day because we did it together."

"His remarkable poise, toughness and courage despite his critical wounds were instrumental in turning the tide of the battle and preventing further U.S. casualties," New Hampshire Gov. Maggie Hassan said in a statement. "Because of his heroic actions, our country is safer, our freedom is stronger and many of his fellow soldiers returned home safely to their families."

The Medal of Honor is awarded to members of the Armed Forces who distinguish themselves conspicuously by gallantry above and beyond the call of duty while:

- engaged in an action against an enemy of the United States;
- engaged in military operations involving conflict with an opposing foreign force;
- or serving with friendly foreign forces engaged in an armed conflict against an opposing armed force in which the United States is not a belligerent party.

The meritorious conduct must involve great personal bravery or self-sacrifice so conspicuous as to clearly distinguish the individual above his or her comrades and must have involved risk of life. There must be incontestable proof of the performance of the meritorious conduct, and each recommendation for the award must be considered on the standard of extraordinary merit.

HomeNewsHere RECIPE

Barbecue Beef and Potato Bake

When you need a stick-to-the-ribs dish for hearty appetites, this flavorful dish will fill the bill!

Directions

1. Heat oven to 350°F. Spray rectangular baking dish, 11x7x1 1/2 inches, with cooking spray.
2. Make potatoes as directed on pouch, using water, milk and butter. Spread half of the potatoes over bottom of baking dish. Layer with beef, 1 cup of the cheese and remaining potatoes.
3. Cover with aluminum foil and bake about 30 minutes or until hot. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Sprinkle onions around edges of baking dish. Bake uncovered 3 to 4 minutes longer or until cheese is melted and onions are brown.

Expert Tips

As well as barbecue beef, cooked barbeque chicken and barbecue pork can be used in this recipe if you'd like to try something different. This casserole can easily be cut into squares; serve it with a spatula rather than with a spoon. The mashed potatoes can be made ahead and refrigerated until you're ready to make dinner.

Revive summer-ravaged skin and hair

As summer draws to a close, many people will reminisce about weeks spent relaxing and basking in the sun. Summer is typically full of fun, vacations and relaxation, but while the sun and surf may be refreshing for the mind, sometimes the body pays a price for all of those days spent soaking up some rays.

Summer can be harsh on skin, feet, hair, and more. As the warm days wind down, practice some post-summer beauty tips to revive your skin, hair and feet.

Hair

Weeks spent diving through the waves or plunging into a backyard pool is excellent exercise and a great way to cool off on hot days. However, saltwater and chemical-laden pool water can turn tresses into a mess. One pitfall that plagues people who swim regularly is a green tinge that appears in the hair, which is most noticeable on people who have blond hair. Some people blame the chlorine in the water for the green tint, but the real culprit is copper, a common element found in commercial algicides.

The solution is to find a shampoo that chelates the metal. Speak with a salon professional or a supplier of salon products to find the right shampoo for you. It's sometimes possible to prevent future green highlights by sealing the hair cuticle with a conditioner before swimming, and then thoroughly rinsing hair after exiting the pool.

Swimmer's hair is another summertime phenomenon. Constant exposure to water and sunlight can leave the hair's cuticles exposed and susceptible to damage. Leave-in conditioners may help counteract some of that damage. If that doesn't work, speak to a stylist about what can be done to get hair looking healthy once again. He or she may suggest a fresh cut, new hair color and deep-conditioning treatments.

Skin

Many people now know of the damage ultraviolet rays can do to unprotected skin. In spite of that widely held knowledge, skin cancer remains the most common form of cancer in the United States, where the Skin Cancer Foundation says more than 3.5 million skin cancers are detected annually. The best protection against skin cancer and skin damage from the sun is to use sunscreen and remain in the shade as much as possible. However, sometimes sunburns and blotchy suntans prevail.

Moisturize the skin with a penetrating product as a first recovery step. Aloe is an item found in many healing skin balms and lotions.

Although it can be tempting to tear off portions of peeling, sunburned skin, the peeling is actually a natural part of the healing process and should not be disturbed. The dead skin acts as a protective layer while fragile, tender new skin grows underneath. Use a mild soap and lukewarm water when showering. Moisturizer can keep the damaged skin moist and make peeling less noticeable. Some have found that spraying the skin with a solution made of vinegar and water can reduce the itching associated with peeling skin.

If any part of the skin does not heal or looks strange, visit a dermatologist.

Feet

Walking barefoot or in flip flops or sandals is common during summer. But flimsy sandals offer little protection against the sun as well as any dangers on the ground. Once summer is over, many people find their feet have paid the price, with calluses, blisters and dried-out skin.

Find a spa or nail salon that provides paraffin wax treatments. These treatments use warm, oil-based wax to provide pain relief and skin-softening benefits. The heat in the wax increases circulation and relieves pain and stiffness. Paraffin works by increasing blood supply to the skin while also opening pores and trapping moisture from underlying layers of skin.

Foot and Ankle Center of Massachusetts

Winchester's Fiore survives death race for Woburn charity

World's Most Challenging Endurance Race Mentally and Physically Challenges athletes from June 27-30 in Pittsfield, VT

There are millions of running races, thousands of marathons, hundreds of triathlons and even dozens of ultra-marathons ... but there is only one Death Race.

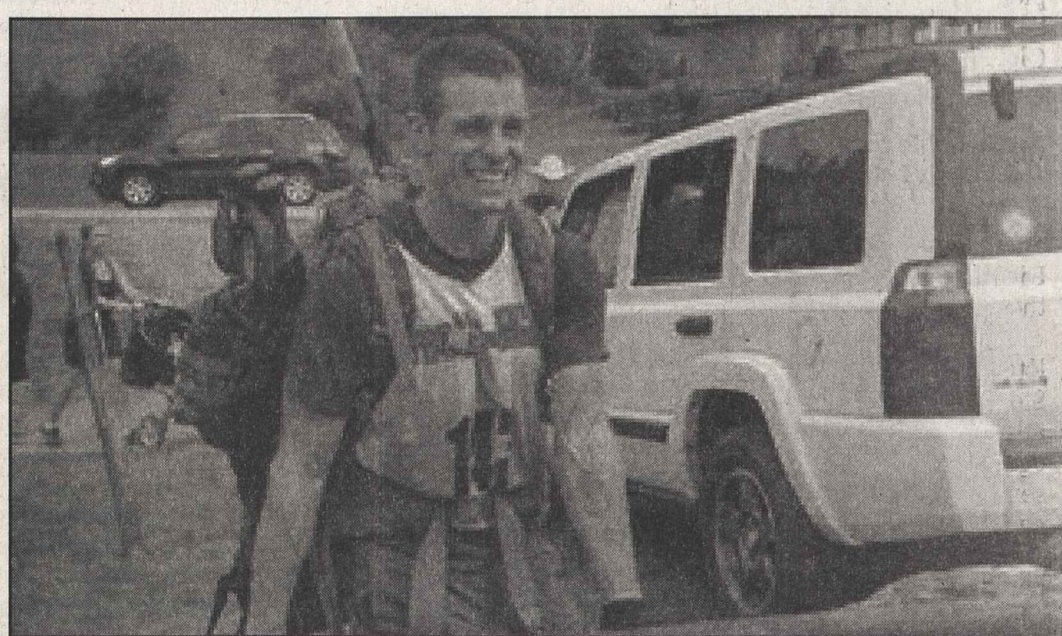

Last year and this year Winchester Firefighter Joshua Fiore survived the race and raised money for Courage 2 Cure, a Woburn charity established to raise funds to support cancer research for children.

Held annually since 2005 in Pittsfield, VT, this year's race began on Friday June 27th and finally ended 66 hours later in the early morning hours on Monday June 30. The annual ultra endurance test began with over 300 registered entrants from all across the world and in the end, a record 64 racers finished including 9 women.

Here's a look at the athletes who earned a coveted 2014 Death Race Skull.

The obstacle and challenge-driven race required competitors to complete more than a dozen unusual grueling mental and physical challenges throughout a 50-mile course in the dense Vermont woods.

The theme of the 2014 Death Race was "The Explorer." According to race organizers, the competitors were advised to read the exploits of Sir Edmund Hilary, Shackleton and Lewis & Clark to prepare for their journey. Past themes have included; gambling, religion and money. Competitors were also provided a gear list of more than a dozen items weighing in excess of 50-pounds in advance of the race.

Unlike other endurance races that offer a detailed map, Death Race competitors have no idea what to expect next as the course map and list of challenges are kept secret. For an endurance athlete, not knowing where the light is at the end of the tunnel can be sheer torture.

"The Death Race" is designed to push and aggravate people to such a point that even the most stoic eventually fail," said Joe De Sena, co-Founder of the Death Race. "Only those people possessing incredible discipline under the most insane and even delusional circumstances can call themselves a finisher. These athletes are willing to complete the journey at all costs. The fact that these people endured for 60+ hours to see what they are made of, is just remarkable and awe-inspiring."

Skin tags are often harmless

Doctors have long been urging patients to be aware of changes to their skin, which could be indicative of illness, including skin cancer. When performing self-inspections, some people may discover skin growths that look unsightly or give them pause. Oftentimes these growths are skin tags.

A skin tag, also known as a fibroepithelial polyp or acrochordon, is a small, benign tumor that forms primarily in areas where the skin creases, like the groin, neck and armpit. Skin tags are usually no bigger than a grain of rice. However, skin tags can be larger. According to Medscape Reference, roughly 46 percent of the population will experience an acrochordon at some point in their lives. A person may have anywhere from one to more than 100 skin tags, and certain people are more likely to develop skin tags than others.

In many cases skin tags are just harmless blemishes on the skin. However, some may need to be removed depending on their location or if any irritation is present. Skin tags often scab over and fall off on their own over time, but they also can be removed quite easily.

When removing skin tags, the risk for infection is rare. Even though it is a relatively simple procedure, and one that many people take into their own hands, skin tag removal is best left to a doctor, who will numb the area before removing the skin tag. Ligation is a technique where a piece of suturing thread is tied at the base of the tag to staunch circulation and allow the tag to dry up and fall off on its own. Cryotherapy freezes the skin tag. Electrical cauterization or surgical removal with a scalpel also can take place.

Josephine Altovino of RE/MAX Andrew earns SRES® designation

Josephine Altovino, an experienced REALTOR® with RE/MAX Andrew Realty Services of Medford and Stoneham has been awarded the Seniors Real Estate Specialist (SRES®) designation by the Seniors Real Estate Specialist Council of the National Association of REALTORS® (NAR).

A strong proponent of continuing education for REALTORS®, Altovino earned her SRES® designation in order to better serve the specific needs of her 55+ clients and overall senior community. Altovino joins more than 16,000 real estate professionals in North America who have earned the SRES® designation. All were required to successfully complete a comprehensive course in understanding the needs, considerations, and goals of real estate buyers and sellers aged 55 and older. The SRES® Council, founded in 2007, is the world's largest association of real estate professionals focusing specifically on representing senior clients in real estate transactions.

A REALTOR®/Sales Associate since 1988, Altovino has been affiliated with RE/MAX Andrew Realty

Services for the past 18 years. Throughout this time, she has helped countless individuals, families and business owners purchase and sell a wide variety of residential and commercial real estate throughout Massachusetts and beyond. Over the years, Altovino has also won awards in recognition of her outstanding real estate production.

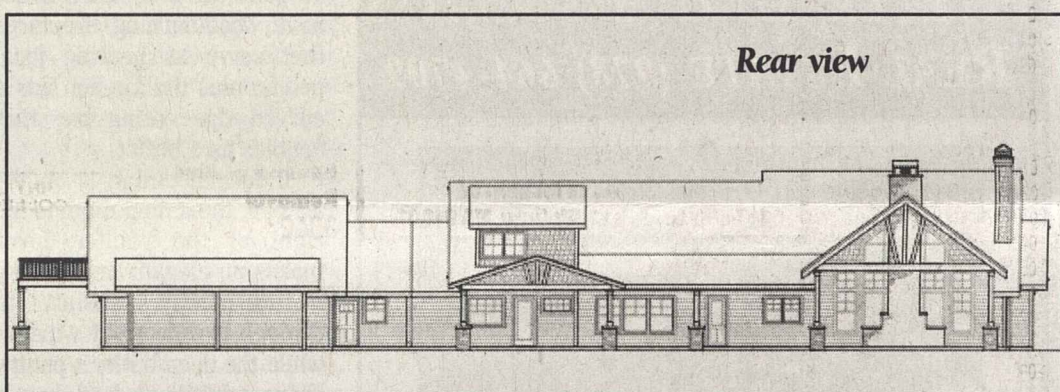

Born in Caltanissetta, Sicily and raised in Genova, Italy, Altovino immigrated to the United States with her family as a teenager and settled in Boston's North End. After high school, she attended Emmanuel College where she earned a BA Degree in Education and Languages and later earned her Master of Education Degree from Northeastern University. For the past 22 years Altovino served as a teacher in the Malden Public School system until her retirement in 2013. Throughout this time, Altovino simultaneously built a successful career in real estate sales.

Altovino works primarily out of RE/MAX Andrew Realty Services' Stoneham office and services all of Massachusetts, with special focus on the Greater Boston and Boston North markets. She is fluent in English, Italian and Spanish. Altovino is a member of the National Association of REALTORS®, the Massachusetts Association of REALTORS® and the Eastern Middlesex Association of REALTORS®. Over the years, she has been an active member of the RE/MAX Andrew Realty Services' team, participating in a wide array of community events and activities.

John Veneziano, Broker Owner, and the RE/MAX Andrew Realty Services' sales team and staff are proud to have Josephine Altovino, an experienced, dedicated REALTOR® on their team and congratulate her on her diligence in pursuing this designation.

Anyone with any questions regarding is invited to contact Josephine Altovino at: mytownmyhome@gmail.com or at 781-438-7220.

appreciated if the home is built in excessively rainy or sunny climes. Standing at the kitchen sink, you can gaze out across the covered patio at the rear, and enjoy watching seasonal changes in the landscape beyond.

Down a long hallway to the right, double doors open into a luxurious owners' suite that fills much of the right wing. Its two large walk-in closets each have a built-in dresser. The bathroom boasts a heated tile floor, deep soaking tub, and walk-in shower. And it's all conveniently close to a door that leads to the large hot tub on the Barnhart's covered deck outside.

The hallway to the owners' suite is lined with storage cabinets and runs past a small bathroom and an extra large utility room. A bunk room, TV loft and bedroom suite are upstairs.

This Week's Sampler: Lodge Style House

Roomy Barnhart ideal for gatherings

Families that enjoy entertaining will be impressed with the Barnhart's capacity for handling large gatherings. Depending on the weather and time of year, people can congregate in the kitchen and vaulted great room, the vaulted patio, or both. Both areas have wood-burning fireplaces that serve as inviting focal points, plus the kitchen has a curved-edge eating bar that doubles as a buffet. If formal dining is on the agenda, the dining room to the right of the vaulted foyer makes an elegant impression. Natural light washes in through a wide front window, while the deep butler's pantry keeps additional food handy but out of sight. On the opposite side of the foyer, the vaulted den is in an ideal location for a home office. Covered walkways and patios wrap around three sides of the home. These add even more room for outdoor living, and will be particularly

DEPENDING ON THE WEATHER AND TIME OF YEAR, people can congregate in the kitchen and vaulted great room, the vaulted patio, or both in this lodge style home. Covered walkways and patios wrap around three sides of the home. The luxurious owners' suite boasts two large walk-in closets plus a bathroom with a heated tile floor, deep soaking tub, private toilet, and walk-in shower.
